LONDONERS MAY HAVE TO WALK

Food Famine, Too, Threatens the City.

MOTOR BUS TRAFFIC BADLY DEMORALIZED

Thames Is Fairly Blocked with Vessels.

Thousands of Tons of Food Supplies Are Rotting in Ships in the Thames, the Boats Being Unable To Dock—As Result, Prices of Meats and Other Provisions Soar. The Situation.

London, Aug. 10.—With more than 100,000 dock workers, transportation employes, teamsters and allied trades on strike, foodstuffs becoming momentarily scarcer because of the inability to deliver them, and serious rioting in progress, the strike situation in the metropolis is already almost beyond the control of the local authorities. In the army camp at Aldershot troops are already in reserve, with trains on the sidings, ready to rush troops to the aid of the constabulary.

And the strikers, their families starving, are in a mood which would require only a minor incident to cause them to resort to extreme violence.

The money cost alone is appalling. A conservative estimate of the cost to the merchants alone is $10,000,000 every twenty-four hours.

The government officials are trying to force a settlement. They have secured from the representatives of the union their minimum demands and are endeavoring to force the employers to grant them. Hundreds of tons of foodstuffs are rotting in cases in the freight trains. The odor from the decaying materials is prevalent and because of the intense heat is a distinct menace to health.

That the government is in deadly earnest was made plain in the house of commons when Home Secretary Churchill said:

"Unless the strike is settled today it will be necessary for the government to take into its own hands not only the preservation of order, but the government to take into its own hands not only the preservation of order, but the supplying of the city with needed food. We will not shirk our duty."

One thousand soldiers are enroute from Aldershot and will reach here late tonight. One entire division is in reserve at Aldershot.

The disorder at the railway stations and along the docks continued this evening.

Riot Breaks Out.

Liverpool, Aug. 10.—Striking freight handlers today carried out their threats against the police and after severe street fighting, in which many were injured by stones and clubs, the police were forced to retreat. Mobs continued to form and all efforts of the police to disperse them were futile.

The mayor issued a proclamation that he was ready to read the riot act unless lawlessness ceased.

Rioting continues and the troops probably will be called out.

Following a conference between Home Secretary Churchill, Secretary of the Exchequer Lloyd-George and the chief of police, a deputation of strikers told the home secretary they were exercising every precaution to prevent rioting. It was announced that the coal porters had signed an agreement with their employers and will return to work.

The war office has ordered troops at Aldershot to be in readiness to be rushed to London, and it is reported some have already secretly entrained.

Critical Condition.

London, Aug. 10.—That all London, with its 6,000,000 population, will have to walk unless the great transportation strike now on is settled within forty-eight hours, is predicted today and a food famine is considered inevitable. The strike spread today to carters, freight handlers and teamsters at all railway stations and others employed in the handling and transporting of freight about 25,000 men going out. A conservative estimate places the number of strikers and those indirectly thrown out of work at 120,000 and there are constant accessions. The affiliated unions are either walking out in sympathetic support or consider the moment opportune to present grievances of their own.

Motor bus traffic is badly demoralized. The supply of petrol is running low and there was only half service during the day. By tomorrow, all motor bus service upon which London is so dependent, will be completely at a standstill.

Thousands of tons of food supplies are rotting in ships on the Thames, the vessels being unable to dock. Prices of meats and other provisions are soaring. In many instances they have gone up 100 per cent. The Thames is fairly blocked with vessels.

Turbulent Scenes.

Numerous large markets failed to open today as their supplies were exhausted. Dealers appealed to cab drivers to make deliveries where need of food was urgent, but were refused.

Many turbulent scense marked the strike today. Mail wagons escorted by heavy detachments of police were the center of disorder. Clashes between strikers and the police began with daybreak and continued all day. About noon mounted police surrounded Paddington station, which had been blocked by throngs of strikers. The temper of the workmen became uglier as the day progresed. The police used their batons freely, but seem unable to cope with the situation.

Home Secretary Winston Churchill has under consideration urgent appeals made to call out troops to assist the police.

General apprehensiveness is reflected in the stock market. All railroad shares went down today.

Some Queer Features.

London, Aug. 10.—A hearse and two closed carriages, packed with meat, drove up in funereal fashion to one of the leading hotels this afternoon and unloaded its supplies. The black plumes and other mourning regalia gave the hearse and carriages the right of way. The strikers quietly allowed the procession to pass.

King George returning from Sandringham, was delayed some time in Queen Victoria street today while on his way to the palace. His motor car was held up by a long string of stranded wagons.

The effect of the strike is the most serious in the poorer districts of the East End, where many butcher shops have closed.

Troops Called Out.

Liverpool, Aug. 10.—Troops were called out, today, to cope with the situation caused by the strike of the railway freight men. Four hundred men of the Warwickshire regiment arrived during the forenoon from Litchfield and more have been ordered from Chester.

The strikers today defied all efforts of the police to disperse the mobs in the railroad yards. Fish and vegetable stands along the streets were overturned and practically all street trade is paralyzed.

Shipments of beef to relieve the scarcity in that city, were sent to London today on passenger trains.

RETURN PARLIAMENT FAVORING TREATY

Canadians To Vote on Reciprocity Next Month.

Detroit. Aug. 10.—Canadian voters will return a parliament in favor of reciprocity with the United States, but by a very small majority, according to Milton A. McRae, president of the Detroit chamber of commerce, who has just returned from a ten days' trip in Canada. The large cities will be against the agreement at the September elections, he believes, while the country districts and small towns will favor reciprocity. Talk of the annexation of Canada by the United States is playing a part in the campaign, which, McRae says, is the most intense in Canadian history.

GIRL'S PRETTY FACE CREATES A BIG ROW

MISS FLORENCE KUBEL

Much trouble and tribulation have been brought to Representative A. W. Lafferty, of Oregon, by a letter addressed over his signature to Miss Florence Kubel, whose picture he had seen in a newspaper and had admired greatly. The letter expressed a hope that the writer might soon see her. A card was enclosed for the members' gallery of the House, in Washington, where the writer said he hoped to meet her.

Miss Kubel is the daughter of S. J. Kubel, chief clerk of the Geological Survey. Mr. Kubel immediately demanded an explanation, declaring that in case he wished any additional explanations from the Representative he would get them without Mr. Lafferty having to look him up.

TO APOLOGIZE TO UNDERWOOD

Bryan Takes Up Matter of His Criticism.

WANTS PAPER TO SUBSTANTIATE TALE

And Addresses Open Letter to the Editor.

Bryan Says That If Paper Which Furnishes His Information Can Not Verify Despatch, He Will at Once Apologize to Chairman Underwood. Nebraskan Is Plain and Frank on Affair.

Lincoln, Neb. Aug. 10.—William J. Bryan will apologize for his recent criticism of Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, if the Omaha World-Herald, United States Senator Hitchcock's newspaper, fails to substantiate a Washington dispatch which inspired the Bryan shaft at Underwood.

In his Commoner today, Bryan addresses an open letter to the editor of the World-Herald and calls for a verification of a Washington dispatch of July 25 in which Underwood was said to have opposed a caucus motion to take up the steel and iron schedule, and for which he, Underwood, was criticized by Congressman Kitchin and other Democratic members. After pointing out that he secured his information from a Democratic source, the World Herald, Bryan says:

"Mr. Underwood, last Wednesday, accused Mr. Bryan of misrepresenting his attitude on the iron and steel schedule. He quoted a Commoner editorial entitled 'Underwood Unmasked.' The Commoner editorial was written by Mr. Bryan and was based on a Washington dispatch which appeared in the Omaha World-Herald of July 25.

"If the World Herald report is not true, Mr. Bryan withdraws his criticism, apologizes for the editorial and expresses regret that he brought the charge he did.

As to Report.

"If, however the World-Herald report is correct—if Mr. Clark offered or supported a resolution instructing the committee to proceed to report other tariff reduction bills, including a bill to reduce the tariff on iron and steel, and Mr. Underwood led the fight against it and defeated it, Mr. Bryan has a right to draw his own conclusions as to why Mr. Underwood opposed Mr. Clark's resolution. If it is true, as the World-Herald says, that Mr. Kitchin referred to Mr. Underwood's investments in the steel business and expressed the fear that delay in reducing the iron and steel schedule might be attributed to that pecuniary interest, Mr. Bryan has a right to refer to the matter and to express his own opinion.

"Chairman Underwood has no cause to complain. Mr. Bryan's criticism of him has brought him the ardent friendship of those Democrarts—an influential class, too—who have fought Mr. Bryan for fifteen years. Now, if he has won the friendship of all those who have been friendly to Mr. Bryan, he must be the popular man in the party.

"If the Democratic members of the house did not submit to secret caucuses on public affairs there would be no doubt concerning any of their proceedings.

"The secret caucus is one of the worst foes of popular government. If you are opposed to it, write to your member of congress and urge him to protest against him."

ASTORIA EXPOSITION IS OPENED TODAY

Marks 100th Anniversary of Settlement of Pacific Northwest.

Astoria, Ore., Aug. 10.—The 100th anniversary of the settlement of the Pacific Northwest was celebrated today by the opening of the Astoria exposition. In 1812, John Jacob Astor founded a trading post at Astoria. Today, with sixteen naval vessels in the harbor, Governor West, surrounded by state and national guard officers, in the center of a rich and populous country, formally opened the thirty days' celebration. President Taft was represented by John Barrett, director general of the bureau of pan-American republics.

Astoria and Oregon had been preparing for the celebration for six months and every building and exhibit was complete when the gates of Fort Astoria swung open at 2 p. m. A monster parade, in which organizations from Portland, Seattle, Spokane, San Francisco and Vancoouver, British Columbia, participated, was done of the features of the opening day. Naval vessels from England are already in the harbor with the representatives of the American navy, while a French and Japanese cruiser will arrive before the end of the week. A big water parade and carnival will take place tonight.

MRS. OSCAR TURNER, WIFE OF FINANCIER, SEEKS DIVORCE SO HUSBAND MAY WED "SOUL MATE"

MRS OSCAR A TURNER

Because of her husband's frank confession, so she says, that he has found a "soul mate" whom he desires to wed, Mrs. Oscar A. Turner, who resides at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, confirmed a report that after a satisfactory financial settlement she will go to a Western State to begin suit for divorce. Mr. and Mrs. Turner were married twenty-two years ago. They have two sons, Oscar A., Jr., who is a student at Yale, and Llewellyn Jackson Turner.

Mr. Turner is interested in Western mines and railroads and has a main office in New York, with branches in many large cities. He is president of the Ely Copper Company. With John W. Woodside, of Philadelphia, Mr. Turner several years ago acquired the Tonopah group of mines in Nevada from the locator for the sum of $300,000 and organized the Tonopah Mining Company of Nevada. His legal residence is in Nevada, although he and Mrs. Turner for the last decade have made their home in Philadelphia.

WHAT COLORADO WOMAN DESIRE

Suffragists Get into Politics in Earnest.

MAY FORM A NEW POLITICAL PARTY

Are Preparing Slate, Showing Men No Mercy.

Women of Centennial State Out To Elect Lieutenant Governor, Four Members of Lower House, Two State Senators, State Auditor and State Superintendent of Schools. Their Plans.

Denver, Col., Aug. 10.—All Colorado women voters want a lieutenant governor or one congressman; not less than four members lower house, two state senators, state auditor, state superintendent of schools and—that's all.

And they say they will get them, too, at the next general election. If they don't, they threaten to form a new political party. With the male vote split between the Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, Laborites and one or two other parties, the woman politicians believe that united, they will be the majority party and instead of begging favors, can get the entire slate unless they are merciful to the mere man.

Women Make Good.

This year, the representation of the women in state offices consists of the state superintendent of schools and four assemblymen. They will demand that both major parties allow the women to name the candidates for the other positions indicated, so that whether Republicans or Democrats carry the state, the women will win.

"We have made good as voters. We have shown that we can hold office and do it better than the men. Then, why shouldn't we get what we want?"

That's the way the women argue.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, a national figure among the suffragists, is one of the leaders in the movement for more general recognition of the women voters, and may be the Democratic candidate for congress or the lieutenant governorship. The work of organization already is under way.

COMMISSION KEEPS BUSY

Many Gas Companies Have Taxes Raised.

CINCINNATI WOMAN LEAVES AN ASYLUM

Is Secretly Released and Goes to California.

After Striking His Opponent in the Face, a Man on a Pennsylvania Flyer Jumps Off Train and Is Beheaded by Passing Freight—Heat Causes Explosion at a Lancaster Plant.

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—The valuation of the Upham Gas company of Mt. Vernon was raised by the state tax commission from approximately $20,000 to $160,000, an increase of 800 per cent. The valuation of the National Oil and Gas company of Marietta was raised from approximately $14,000 to $45,000. The Aunther Brothers company of Woodville was raised from $4,000 to $9,000. The commission also fixed the tentative valuation for an artificial gas company, the Paulding Gas Light and Fuel company, which is raised from $1,185 to $10,000.

Released on the Quiet.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 10.—Mrs. Dora Gallagher, who recently was committed to the county insane asylum following discovery of a discrepancy in her accounts of $26,000, as treasurer of the Cincinnati Home for Incurables, was secretly released from the institution. It is understood she had departed for Los Angeles, Cal., the home of her brother, Andrew Cadwallader, who negotiated a settlement with directors of the home.

Jumps From Car; Beheaded.

Lima, O., Aug. 10.—After striking his opponent in argument a heavy blow in the face, H. D. Kendall turned about and leaped from the observation platform of the rear Pullman of the Pennsylvania flyer at Delphos, while the train was running 65 miles an hour. Made unconscious by the fall, Kendall lay on the track and was beheaded a few minutes later by a freight train.

Heat Explodes Plant.

Zanesville, O., Aug. 10.—Extreme heat caused the explosion of the Lancaster nitroglycerin factory, located at Stockport, 10 miles below McConnelsville. The building was entirely demolished. No one was injured. The explosion, which was heard for miles around, started several field fires in the vicinity.

INFAMOUS LIE, SAYS PERKINS

To Charge That Certain Bankers Start Panic.

ALSO DENOUNCES ANTI-TRUST LAW

Says Supreme Court's Ruling Is Danger Signal.

Perkins Declares That Under Sherman Law, the Commercial Supremacy of the Nation Could Not Be Maintained—Says Benefits of Big Corporations Should Be Preserved. Probers Quiz Financier.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Waving his arms about his head in earnest gesticulation, George W. Perkins, former henchman of J. P. Morgan, today denounced the Sherman anti-trust law before the Stanley steel committee and predicted business disaster as a result of its enforcement. Perkins declared that the present campaign of anti-trust prosecution was dangerous to all business interests. He characterized the dissolution order of the supreme court in the Standard Oil case as a "red flag, a danger signal to every business man," and asserted that under the Sherman law, the "commercial supremacy of the nation could not be maintained."

The benefits of the big corporations in buisness should be preserved he declared. The financier characterized as an "infamous lie" the charge that "certain bankers" started the panic of 1907 for a purpose and that it got beyond their control. And he grew wildly excited in denying that the "Morgan interests" dominated the financial world.

"Is it true," demanded Representative Bartlett, examining Perkins, "that certain bankers started that panic to drive certain other men they thought undesirable, out of business and that after they started it, it got beyond their control."

Raising in his place, Perkins bristled with ire, swung his arms above his head, and shouted:

"There never was a more infamous lie started and persistently followed up than that! There is not and never was a scintilla of truth in that from A to Z."

What's the Trouble?

Bartlett asked if Perkins agreed with Judge Gary as to the necessity for government regulation of corporations, even as to prices.

"I agree with Judge Gary that we should have some constructive action," Perkins asserted. "But I don't agree with him as to government regulation of prices. But as between even that extreme and going on as we are now, I prefer that limit."

"What's the trouble with the present situation?" asked Bartlett.

"American business can not go on under present conditions and prosperity."

Perkis shouted, pounding the table before him. "We are going the wrong way. Something must be done."

"But the steel coroporation and other big corporations have been successful, haven't they," demanded Bartlett.

"Yes, somewhat,' admitted Perkins, "but our fear is based on this; We have reached a point where the executive officials of the government enforcing the law, are proceeding at this moment to dissolve the Standard Oil company.

"Instead of finding out whether the company has been of any benefit, and trying to preserve that benefit to the people, they are now proceeding to break it up into thirty-three parts and scatter it over the earth.

"I'm opposed to any effort to break up the United States Steel corporation until some one finds out what good it has done."

And Perkins sat down, mopping his forehead.

YOUNG FARMER ENDS HIS LIFE

Upper Sandusky Man Grieves Over Loss of Wife.

Upper Sandusky, O., Aug. 10.—Jacob H. Vent, residing on the lower Nevada road, five miles southeast of Upper Sandusky, took his own life some time Wednesday, using a Marlin twelve-gauge repeating shotgun. The charge struck him in the heart and death was instantaneous.

Mr. Vent was about twenty-four years of age and a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vent, of south Warpole street, this city.

Mr. Vent was the tenant on the Peter Tschanen farm. He was despondent over the death of his wife, who passed away July 21, soon after a baby daughter was born to her and which was dead at birth. Since then Mr. Vent, had often expressed the hope that he would soon join his little family in a better world.

CHAUFFEUR AND HEIRESS MARRY

Newport Society Circle Given a Shock.

YOUNG COUPLE NOW ON HONEYMOON TRIP

Elopement Causes Stir in the Upper Set.

Good, Honest, Hard-Working Jack Geraghty and Miss Julia Stella French, Heiress and Debutante of Last Winter, Relative of Vanderbilts, Run Away and Are Wedded in Country Hotel.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 10.—Society circles were stunned Wednesday as the result of the elopement of Miss Julia Estelle French, favorite niece of Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, who divorced Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, with "Jack" Geragthy, her father's chauffer.

The couple were married in Central village, Connecticut, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, after having been chased across the state by the father of the bride.

Immediately after the marriage the couple continued their flight toward New York.

Mother Is Worried.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 10.—"I don't see why my boy married that society girl. He is a good, honest, clean boy with no bad habits and the hardest kind of a worker. And he has been a good son to his father and me."

With traces of tears in her eyes, Mrs. John G. Geraghty, wife of the village livery stable proprietor and mother of "Handsome Jack" Geraghty, the chauffeur, who yesterday eloped with and married Miss Julia Stella French, heiress and debutante of last winter, expressed this sentiment today as she asked if any news had been received from her son and his bride.

The marriage, following the elopement from Newport, if distasteful to the society element and the family of the young heiress, is easily so to the village liveryman and his good wife.

"We wanted our boy to marry a girl of his own kind," Mrs. Geraghty continued. "Last week Stuyvesant Leroy, Miss French's uncle, came here and ordered Jack to keep away from his relative. I told Jack to do so, but love is a funny thing, they say."

An Honest Boy.

John G. Geraghty, father of the boy, is a Newport character. He has a good livery business and drives his own hack "when a driver lays down on him." The son drove one of his father's rigs until this year, when he became a chauffeur. The Geraghtys are highly respected as honest hard-working straightforward people.

Meanwhile, there is the utmost consternation in society circles. Anxious mothers are safeguarding their "eligible daughters" whom they hope to yet marry to Astors or at least to millionaires and young chauffeurs are being hastily displaced by staid married men selected for their excessive homeliness.

All of those related to the bride, including her aunt, Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, divorced wife of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who drives a society stage between London and Brighton, were in retirement today. They sent word that under no circumstances would they discuss the wedding or the report that the bride's father intends applying to have the marriage annulled.

Meanwhile the young couple are believed to be honeymooning in Boston, indifferent to the stir their wedding has caused.

MAKES SHORTEST POLITICAL SPEECH

Clevelander Uses Twenty-Five Words in Appeal for Votes.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—Patrick Coreno, candidate for councilman at large, is credited with making the shortest political speech on record. Two regular campaign speeches, each of ninety minutes' duration, preceded Coreno's remarks. Here's the speech:

"I'm not going to hand you the con and soft stuff. If you want to vote for me, fine. If not, that's your business."

BOARD OF EDUCATION HOLDS LONG SESSION

Teachers Are Elected To Serve During Ensuing Term.

THE SELECTION OF THE PRINCIPALS DELAYED

Session of Board Is Lengthy—The Meeting Is One of the Most Important of the Year—Contracts for Seats in the New School Buildings, Other Business Matters.

At an adjourned meeting of the board of education at the Marion High school building Tuesday evening, the complete list of teachers in the local schools excepting the principals, was reelected unanimously and considerable business was given attention. A motion to confirm the list of principals as presented by Superintendent Hartman failed to carry, Members Dickerson, Guthery and Hill voting in the negative.

Member R. J. Pennell made a motion that the recommendation of Earl C. Starbuck as supervisor of music be confirmed, but this motion also failed to carry, Members Dickerson and Hill voting in the negative and Member F. E. Guthery passing the vote.

The members of the board gathered early for the transaction of business. The meeting was planned for 6:30 o'clock, but the members were all in their seats about 7:15 o'clock, and, from that time until 9 o'clock, much business was given attention. After that time, the members inspected the samples of school desks submitted by the representatives of the five firms desiring to seat the new school buildings. Each representative was given opportunity to show the merits of his desk. The board continued at this work until after midnight.

Many Vacancies.

An unusually large list of vacancies in the schools, the largest number so far as is known in the history of the schools, was reported by Superintendent Hartman. Thirteen teachers and one principal who were in the ranks last year will not teach here this year, many of them being off on leave of absence, and several not applying for their positions for another year.

During the evening, the resignation of Miss Marie Seiter, who has been teaching in the fourth grade at the Forest Lawn building, was received and accepted. Those who will not teach as a result of being given leave of absence are:

Gladys Cleveland, Iva Campbell, Della Harriman and Patsy Rauhauser. Those who resigned their positions are:

Winifred Peadon, Marrianne Reincke and Marie Seiter. Among the principals, Mrs. C. L. Price, resigned. She was formerly Miss Flora Kowalke.

Superintendent Hartman reported the rest either to have made no application for their positions or failing to take the necessary examinations. They are:

Etta Walters, Alice Gabriel, Elizabeth Rexroth, Kathryn Emery, Margeret Burgess and Flora Slough.

The New Teachers.

The following list of new teachers was recommended by Superintendent Hartman to fill the vacancies and the list was unanimously confirmed:

Pauline Bell, Ermel Blow, Margeret Hecker, Leota Kagay, Mary Knappenberger, Faye P. Myers, Blanche Paessler, Euseba Yoder, Etta Mae Katz, Demeral Morris, Ethel Stone, Marie Burke and Charlaine Phelps. The following are the old teachers in the schools who were elected:

Abagail Gast, Reba Anderson, Emma Cunningham, Ella Kiser, Clara Kowalke, Ruth Edwards, Isabelle Freeland, Carrie Geran, Emma Berndt, Iscah Rhodes, Emma Herzer, May Arthur, Stella Smiley, Hattie Christian, Mamie Fletcher, Evalona McKinley, May Hain, Elizabeth Dairy, Anna Schoenlaub, Sarah Myers, Elma Howser, Marie Hoover, Dessie Gregory, Carrie Durr, Lorena Cobb, Madge Whitney, Dorothy Anderson, Linda Willauer, Rose Waddell, Nellie Irey, Alice White, Lillian Burgess, Pearl Campbell, DeEmma Hawley, Beatrice Prior, Maude Hobson, Ada Havill, Luella Scholl, Zelda Ramer, Fanny Reidenbaugh, Hilda Garberson, Irma Sontag, Madge Martin, Lulu Keller, Gertrude Lawrence, Alice Sneckenberger, Alice Dombaugh, Jeanette Hamilton, Florence Chamberlain, Grace Wingott and Margaret Dickerson.

Increase In Salary.

F. C. Gegenheimer, teacher of mathematics in the Marion High school, was given an increase in salary of $100 a year, making his salary now $1,100 a year. Gegenheimer was offered a position at Hamilton, recently, paying $1,100 for the first year and $1,200 for the year following.

Superintendent Hartman requested that his salary be paid monthly during the whole year instead of for ten months, and the clerk was instructed to make this change.

An estimate of $1,764.94 was granted Leffler & Bland on their contract for the addition to the Silver Street building. An estimate of $44.12 was granted Marriott & Allen on their contract on the new buildings.

A change in the brick work at the Silver Street building was made that will make the cost about $100 extra.

Clerk Hill was instructed to pay the telephone and electric light bills before the tenth of each month.

Contracts Awarded.

Shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning, after the laborious task of examining the various desks, the members of the board awarded the contracts for the seating of the two new eight-room buildings and the four-room addition to the Silver Street building.

The E. H. Stafford Manufacturing company, of Chicago, was given a contract for seating one of the buildings. E. P. King, of this city, represented the company. The bid ranges approximately $2.10 a seat. The American Seating company, of Cleveland, represented by H. O. Dunn, also of this city, was given the contract for seating one of the eight-room buildings and also the four-room addition to the Silver Street building. The bid of this company was approximately $2 a seat.

Amount of Contracts.

Just what the aggregate bids will amount to can not be ascertained at this time as it is uncertain just how many seats of the various sizes will be required. Approximately forty seats will be required for each room. A saving of about fifty cents on each seat will be made, according to the members of the board. Heretofore, about $2.50 has been paid for each seat.

Steel seats will be tried out in the four-room addition to the Silver Street building. It is believed that they will prove very satisfactory and will be sanitary.

Aside from the two companies awarded the contracts, bids were submitted by the Sears, Roebuck company, of Chicago; the A. H. Andrews company, of Chicago, and J. M. Roberts, of Prospect.

The matter of purchasing teachers' desks was postponed.

MISS IRENE NEALLY IN A DROWNING ACCIDENT

Young Glen Hufford Loses His Life in River.

BOAT IS OVERTURNED IN CHANGING SEATS

Young Woman Sinks Twice and Then Succeeds in Catching Side of Boat. She Tries To Lend Her Companion Assistance, but He Goes Down to His Death.

Miss Irene Neally, of Silver street, who has charge of the children's department at Kleinmaier brothers' store, was one of the principals in a boat accident at the Indian Mill near Upper Sandusky, Tuesday evening, in which Glen Hufford, a prominent young man of that place, lost his life by drowning.

The young people with another couple had gone to the Indian Mill, north of Upper Sandusky on the Sandusky river, to enjoy a boat ride. Miss Neally and Mr. Hufford went out in a small boat about 8:45 o'clock, and, after rowing a short time, they attempted to change places in the boat so that Miss Neally could row. In attempting to change, the boat began to rock and was overturned, both being thrown into the river. At the place where they went down the water was between eight and ten feet deep.

Young Men to Rescue.

Two young men, Robert Bardon and Paul Shoot, rowing a short distance down the river, saw the accident, and swiftly rowed to the scene. Before they could reach the unfortunate couple both had come up for the second time. The second time Miss Neally came up she managed to catch hold of the capsized boat and cling to its side until she was rescued by the young men. Mr. Hufford was not so fortunate. He also came up near the boat and made a desperate effort to save himself. He first caught the side of the boat and then an oar but his strength failed him, and, not being able to swim, sank to his death. His body was recovered at almost the same place it sank, at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday night. Miss Neally holding to the side of the boat made a desperate effort to lend the young man assistance, but was unable to hold him.

Taken from River.

Miss Neally was taken to the boathouse where dry clothing was provided for her and she was then taken to the W. S. Dye home near Upper Sandusky, where she is visiting. Other than being badly frightened she was uninjured.

Mr. Hufford was twenty-one years of age and the only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Hufford, of Upper Sandusky, and a very popular young man of that place. He was a clerk in a grocery store and a member of the Red Men. His untimely death comes as a sad blow to his parents and his many friends.

The funeral was held Friday morning at 9 o'clock, at the Evangelical church, Rev. E. D. Paulin, of Mansfield, a former pastor officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Old Mission cemetery.

Miss Neally remained there until after the funeral.

Bible Conference.

The Lakeside Bible conference was closed Sunday evening, after one of the best programs and largest attendance of any previous season. The chautauqua program will continue until August 27. Marion and Marion county is well represented at the lake resort this season.

To My Many Customers—Having sold my veterinary hospital and residence on east Church street, to Dr. M. A. YOUNG FOREIGNER IN VERY SERIOUS TROUBLE

Stamatoplus Stevens Must Answer in Justice's Court.

AFFIDAVIT CHARGING FORGERY FILED TUESDAY

It Is Claimed That Stevens Tries To Pass Bad Check at Bank—He Is Captured After a Chase by Constable Ullom—Man Says His Home Is in Columbus—A Turn Down.

Stamatoplus Stevens, aged twenty-one years, a foreigner, was arrested Tuesday morning by Constable Ullom on a charge of forgery. About an hour before the time for the banks to open, Stevens entered the candy store of Kaler brothers, on west Center street. James Kaler was doing some work in the basement and Miss Nellie Dye was in charge of the store. Stevens managed to get a blank check it is claimed and a few minutes before he left the store Miss Dye saw him writing something.

About 9 o'clock, it is alleged, Stevens entered the City National bank and presented a check payable to himself for $35.30. The check was signed "S. Kaler Brothers." When the cashier looked at the signature of the check, he became suspicious and at once thought it a forgery. He asked the man to wait until he talked with Kaler over the telephone to make sure that the check was good. While he was trying to get in communication with Kaler, Stevens hurried from the bank. J. H. Welmore, the cashier, followed him to have him arrested as soon as a policeman could be secured. Stevens became suspicious of Welmore and started to run. He ran down west Church street and was soon out of sight, turning into the alley back of the Presbyterian church.

A short time later, he was found at the Kaler candy store, having entered front and gone through to the rear room. Constable Ullom happened along and went after Stevens, taking him to Justice Conley's court. Here an affidavit was filed against him charging him with forgery, this being sworn to by Miss Dye. Later James Kaler held a conference with Stevens and it was decided to withhold proceedings against him until S. Kaler, one of the proprietors, was seen in regard to the matter. Stevens stated that his home is in Columbus and that he came to Marion Monday night.

A young man, answering the description of Stevens and believed to be the same man, tried to cash a check for $11.48 at the store of Zachman & Myers, but was turned down.

JUDGE KINKEAD TALKS OF JUDGE BABST'S ORDER

Columbus Judge Does Not Regard the Order Seriously.

In connection with the attitude of Judge Kinkead, of the Franklin county courts, in regard to the action of Judge Daniel Babst in the C., D. & M. affairs here, the Columbus Citizen of Tuesday says in part:

Another knot was tied in the already much complicated C., D. & M. railway receivership tangle, Tuesday, when Judge Daniel Babst, of Marion, admitted that on Monday he gave an order directing Sheriff John G. Stark, of Marion county, to appraise and advertise to sell at public auction at the door of the Marion county court house all of the property of the Columbus, Delaware and Marion railway.

"Judge Babst's order will not be carried out," said Judge E. B. Kinkead, who has administered the affairs of the road since it was thrown into the hands of a receiver two years ago Tuesday. "The property will not be sold, and I don't believe that the order will ever amount to any thing."

ANNUAL FARMERS' PICNIC PROGRAM

Farmers Will Meet in the Dayton Blow Grove.

The annual Marion County Farmers' picnic, which is the notable event of every year, at the Dayton Blow grove, four miles west of Scott Town and four and a half miles north of LaRue, will be held Wednesday, August 23. These annual picnics attract a big attendance and fully 4,000 people are expected to be present this year.

The committee is planning to have an attractive musical and speaking program. Baker's band will attend and notable among the speakers will be Attorney General Hogan, who has already accepted the invitation to be present.

While called a farmers' picnic, it is everybody's occasion and, while a Marion county event, it always brings large numbers from Hardin and Wyandot counties.

FIRST STEAM SHOVEL IS SUCCESSFULLY TESTED

Product of New Plant Meets All Expectations.

WORKS PERFECTLY IN HARDEST CLAY

Making Six Dips to the Minute with Seconds to Spare, Which Is Counted Top Notch in Shovel Efficiency. Test Is Watched by Philadelphia Engineer.

On last Thanksgiving day not a stake had been set for the new plant of the Marion Shovel and Dredge Co. Wednesday the test of the first steam shovel turned out by the new factory was completed, to the full satisfaction of the designers, the builders, the management of the company and the buyer, Mr. W. S. Kerbaugh, of Philadelphia. Mr. Kerbaugh's expert engineer watched the new machine for three days of exacting tests, and at the end thereof gave it his stamp of complete approval and the new machine will be shipped as soon as the cab is completed and the painters have done their work.

The first completed shovel, the successful test of which is highly gratifying to all concerned, is a yard and a half machine, with no radical departure from the shovels now in accepted use, but with several notable improvements. The most marked improvement is the solid steel turntable on which the crane operates; a cross cable adjustment to make a perfect tension for the swinging cable; improved jack arrangement, and increased boiler capacity. The builders claim an increased boiler capacity of 33 1-3 per cent. over other machines of like size.

A Star reporter found the new shovel testing out in a cut of very hard clay, quite as trying as any work to be found in actual service, making six dips to the minute, and working with apparent ease. Four dips to the minute is the average speed, five dips a minute count a big work, but the factory test sent this new machine, in difficult shoveling, six dips to the minute, and frequently a few seconds of the minute to spare. Its worth seems abundantly proven.

Several other shovels of the same size and patterns are on the way, and will be ready for their buyers in the next thirty days. With the actual test of the first machine the others can now be pushed along with every assurance of their correctness of design and efficiency in operation. Patterns are making for larger machines.

The notable thing about it all is the swift plant construction and the successful output of a new machine. In eight months a plant has been builded and the first steam shovel made completely ready for its buyer. It is a rare record.

While the Star reporter was at the plant Wednesday Messrs. Owens and Cheney pointed out the location of more new buildings, which will round out the plant. These will go right along, while the present force is growing to the capacity of the shops already erected. A hundred workmen are on the shop pay-roll already.

"You have all the good points of the established machines and several good, new ones of your own. You are bound to succeed." This was the congratulatory assurance of the Philadelphia engineer who witnessed the first test.

HEAVENS IN AUGUST AND BRIGHTEST STAR

The Aberration of Light, the Planets and New Comet.

STAR GAZERS HAVE PLENTY TO INTEREST

How the Various Stars May Be Identified and How Their Positions May Be Determined—How an Important Discovery Is Made—Locating Planets During the Month.

Over our heads, as we look up on a clear August evening, shines a very bright bluish-white star. Even a novice in star-gazing will recognize this as Vega, the principal star of the constellation Lyra, and, according to the careful measures made at Harvard, the brightest in the northern heavens.

For the latter honor it has, indeed, two close rivals, Capella being but seven per cent. fainter, and Arcturus ten per cent. The very marked differences in color between these stars introduce great difficulties in such a comparison. The eyes of different persons are unequally sensitive to light of different colors and an observer who was unusually sensitive to red light would undoubtedly estimate Arcturus to be brighter than Vega. In making the comparison it is necessary to choose a time when the two stars are equally high above the horizon, for otherwise the absorption of light in our atmosphere, even in clear weather, makes the star lower down seem the fainter.

On photographs, which are far more sensitive than the eye to the blue and violet rays, Vega appears nearly twice as bright as Capella, and fully three times as bright as Arcturus.

Three stars in the southern half of the heavens—Sirius, Canopus and Alpha Centuri—exceed Vega in apparent brightness, but only the first is visible in our latitude. Measures of parallax show that Vega is four times as far away as Sirius so that as a matter of fact it exceeds the latter about three-fold in real brightness Telescopically, it is interesting because of its great brilliancy, and on account of a faint companion, some forty seconds distant, which does not share the motion of the bright star, and presumably lies far behind it. Lyra is one more example of a constellation wholly unlike the thing for which it is named. Though it boasts no other bright stars, it contains several objects of interest. Close to Vega are two small stars, forming with it a nearly equilateral triangle The northernmost of these, Epsilon Lyrae, is just separable by a keen eye, and easily divided by an opera glass. A telescope of three inches' aperature will show both components of this wide pair as close doubles, forming a splendid quadruple system. The two close pairs are in slow orbital motion, and all four stars are moving together in space.

The other star of the triangle, Zeta Lyrae, is a wide telescope double, with separation of forty-three seconds. A line from Vega through this star carried as far again points out Delta Lyrae—a very wide pair, separated by ten minutes of arc, which is pretty in a field glass. Some five degrees to the southwest are the brighter stars Beta and Gamma Lyrae The former, which is nearest Vega, is a remarkable variable and spectroscopic binary. It is really a very close double, consisting almost in contact in a period a little less than thirteen days, which mutually eclipse one another. The closeness of a good comparison star makes the variations very easy to follow. At maximum it is nearly equal in brightness to Gamma Lyrae; at minimum less than half as bright. Almost on the line joining these two stars is the Ring Nebula of Lyra—a beautiful object in a telescope of sufficient power.

Not far from Lyra, and just north of the zenith, is the head of Draco, marked by two bright stars, of between the second and third magnitudes. The easterly one of these, Gamma Draconis, is of considerable interest in the history of astronomy, since it was by observing it that the great English astronomer Bradley, early in the eighteenth century, made the important discovery of the aberration of light.

Bradley's original purpose was to observe the position of this star in the heavens, with an instrument of his own invention, much superior in accuracy to those previously used, in the hope of detecting a yearly change in its position, due to the earth's orbital motion about the sun—in other words, what we now call an annual parallax

If such an effect of the earth's motion should exist it is clear that the star should appear farther south than usual when the earth was north of the sun, as seen from the star, and farther north than usual when the earth was south of the sun, or the sun north of the earth, which happens in June.

But the actual observations showed a different and very perplexing state of things. The star's apparent position changed, but it was farthest north, not in June, as apparently it ought to have been, but in September—three months late! In June and December, when the effect of parallax should be a maximum, the star's position was almost exactly the same, but between September and March, when no difference owing to parallax could be expected, a large difference was actually observed.

After much puzzling over this strange phenomenon, the true explanation occurred to Bradley while sailing on the Thames, upon noticing that the wind appeared to change in direction every time the boat tacked and changed her course.

Suppose the wind to be blowing from the north, as observed on shore, or on a vessel at anchor. Now suppose the ship to get under way and proceed due east. In a calm this would apparently produce, for an observer on board, a wind blowing from the direction in which the vessel was heading. The combination of this with the actual north wind would make the wind appear to come from some point east of north. The faster the ship's motion, compared with that of the wind, the greater would be the deviation of its apparent direction.

Now suppose the ship turned about and headed due west The wind would now seem to come from a point as far west of north as the direction previously observed was east of north. But if the ship was steering north or south, the apparent direction of the wind would be unchanged, though its velocity would seem to be increased or diminished.

Now the light which reaches us from a star, though in other respects quite unlike wind, possesses like the wind a finite velocity; and the combination of this with the velocity of the observer, who is carried along on the moving earth, produces similar effects. When the earth is moving in any given direction—say northward—the light of a star which is not in the line of motion will seem to come from a point farther north than its true position; that is, the star will apparently be displaced to the northward, and vice versa if the earth is moving southward.

Now this is exactly what Bradley had observed—the star being apparently farthest north just at the time when the earth is moving northward fastest—or the sun apparently moving southward at the most rapid rate. This occurs in September and all the other observations are equally well explained.

The mystery was thus cleared up. What is more, a conclusive proof had been given that the earth is not fixed in space, but moves around the sun.

The rest of Draco winds about, first to the right, then to the left and downward, inclosing Ursa Minor and separating it from the Great Bear, which is descending in the northwestern sky. On the other side of the Pole, Cassiopeia is rising and Cepheus is higher up. Following the Milky Way southward, we reach Cygnus, and then Aquila, in the southeast. The great square of Pegasus has just risen and the line of stars which runs from it through Andromeda and Perseus is near the northeastern horizon. The lower southeastern sky is dull, containing only Capricornus and Aquarius, but the region of Sagittarius and Scorpio, in the south, is one of the finest in the heavens, and contains the brightest part of the whole Milky Way.

Spica Virginis is low in the southwest and much less conspicuous than the planet Jupiter, which is a little to the left Libra, Ophiuchus and Serpens fill a large area of the southwestern sky. Hercules is west of the zenith, Corona Borealis below, and Bootes lower still, Arcturus being almost due west of the zenith.

The Planets.

Mercury is evening star throughout August, and is best visible before the 12th. His apparent distance from the sun, twenty-seven degrees, is unusually large, but, being far south of the latter, he remains in sight for only an hour after sunset and will not be easy to see. Conditions will be mose favorable in the early part of the month, when he is farther north.

Venus is likewise evening star, but being farther from the sun than Mercury, and very much brighter, is a conspicuous object. She reaches her greatest brilliancy on the 10th, after which the rapid narrowing of her crescent, as she comes between us and the sun, more than makes up for the increase in her apparent size as she approaches us.

At the beginning of the month she sets at 8:40 p. m., and on the 15th a little before 8 p m. After this she approaches the sun very rapidly, and by the 31st she will be hard to see as she sets about 6:45.

At the beginning of the month she appears as a crescent some thirty-five seconds in diameter, and twelve seconds in width. On the 31st her diameter has increased to fifty-four seconds, but her crescent is only four seconds wide, so that she sends us less light than before.

Mars is in Aries, and rises a little before 11 p. m. on the 15th He moves slowly eastward, and increases in brightness and apparent size as the earth overtakes him.

Saturn is close by, but is moving more slowly, so that Mars overtakes him early on the morning of the 17th At this time the two planets are apparently separated by only twenty-one seconds—about three-fourths of the moon's diameter. The moon herself is close by—about four degrees to the southward—and the triple conjunction will be a pretty spectacle in the morning sky.

Jupiter is evening star in Virgo, setting about 10 p m. in the middle of the month. Uranus is in Sagittarius just past opposition, his position on the 15th being R. A. nineteen hours, 54 1 minutes; Declination, twenty-one degrees, 26 minutes. Neptune is in Gemini, and rises about two hours before the sun.

The moon is in her first quarter at 6 p. m. on the 1st, full at 10 p. m. on the 9th, in her last quarter at 7 a. m, on the 17th, new at 11 p. m. on the 23rd, and in the first quarter once more at 11 a m on the 31st She is nearest us on the 21st, and farthest off on the 5th.

As she passes round the skies, she comes into conjunction with Jupiter on the 1st, Uranus on the 8th, Mars and Saturn on the morning of the 17th, Neptune on the 21st, Venus and Mercury on the 25th, and Jupiter again on the 29th.

Kiess's Comet.

A comet, visible in an opera-glass and possessing a tail, was discovered by Kiess at the Lick observatory on July 6th.

At that time it was in the southern part of Auriga and rose about four hours before sunrise.

THE JOHN WESTON CASE IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

Fourth Time It Is Carried to This Court.

ERROR IS CHARGED IN DAMAGE PROCEEDING

Marion Malleable Company Asks That Judgment Be Reversed and It Be Restored to All Things Lost. Matter of W. H. Dildine Against Dutt and Others Carried Up.

For a fourth time, the case of John Weston, who got judgment against the Marion Malleable company for $3,750 for personal injuries, is to be tried in the circuit court, a petition-in-error having been filed by Attorneys Scofield & Durfee and C. C. Fisher, representing the Malleable company, Friday afternoon.

Seven grounds of error are set forth in the petition. The common pleas court erred in overruling the defendant's motion for a new trial, it is alleged, and also erred in its charge to the jury, excepted to at the time. It asks that the judgment be reversed and the company be restored to all things it has lost by reason of the litigation.

W. H. Dildine, plaintiff-in-error, against Philip Dutt, as executor of the last will and testament of Henry Behner, deceased; Homer Kidwell and John Kidwell, defendants-in-error, is the title of a petition-in-error filed in the circuit court by Attorneys Mouser & Moloney, Friday afternoon.

The plaintiff-in-error sets up that Philip Dutt, as administrator, recovered judgment by consideration of the common pleas court at the January term against Homer and John Kidwell for $220.83 on a note. The plaintiff-in-error avers that the consent of the defendants-in-error, Homer and John Kidwell, to join as plaintiffs-in-error could not be obtained, and they are accordingly made defendants-in-error. Three grounds of error are set up, the principal error alleged being that the judgment of the court is contrary to law.

MRS. GEORGE JOHNSON DIES AT INFIRMARY

Former Green Camp Resident Dies After Long Illness.

Mrs. Lucinda Johnson, who was taken to the Marion county infirmary from Green Camp, July 8, 1910, died of dropsy at that institution, Friday evening at 7 o'clock. She had been ill two years, and her death had been expected some time.

The deceased was the widow of the late George R Johnson, of Green Camp. She is survived by two sons, Hiram and Alonzo Johnson, and two brothers, Henry Wisecarver, of Adamsville, and Jacob Wisecarver, of Union county.

The funeral services were held at the home of Hiram Johnson at Green Camp, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, followed by interment in the Green Camp cemetery.

FULLER JOHNSON BRINGS SON HOME

Has No Trouble in Getting Perry Johnson Released.

Fuller Johnson returned from Muncie, Indiana, Friday night, accompanied by his son, Perry, who had been arrested there and held on suspicion of raising a nine-dollar check to $90, and attempting to cash it at the store of the Progress Clothing company. Johnson had no trouble in obtaining his son's liberty, because no charge had been filed against him. The boy stoutly denied that he had raised the check, and the father says the proprietor of the clothing store was not sure whether his son was the person who had attempted to cash the check in his place.

Lace and embroidery should be ironed on the wrong side with several thicknesse of cloth or a piece of flannel underneath.

WILLIAM W. HALEY DIES IN CLARIDON TOWNSHIP

Death Comes After an Extremely Long Illness.

Mr. Haley Leaves a Widow and Six Children—Is a Member of the Masonic Order and a Lifelong Christian—Burial at Claridon.

William W. Haley, seventy-three years old, a well-known farmer, died from the infirmities of age at his home, six miles east of the city, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, after an extended illness.

Mr. Haley was a native of Fairfield county, but had lived in Marion county many years. He was married to Miss Jane Owen, March 14, 1861, and they were the parents of nine children, six of whom are living. They are W. F. and G. E. Haley, of Chicago; Mrs Elmer Oborn, of this city; M. C. Haley, of Richland township, and E. O and C. F. Haley, of Claridon township.

The deceased was a Mason. Practically all of his long life he had been a Christian, having been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for more than half a century.

The funeral services were held at the late residence, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev Mr Bryanton officiating. Interment was made in the Claridon cemetery.

RATTLESNAKE OIL SELLER IS MURDERED

A Seller of Pens Tells the Story of Killing at Pittsburg.

The following from the Delaware Gazette will be of interest here because the "Rattlesnake Oil" seller mentioned held forth on the public square in this city and raked in the shekels by the handfuls:

The "Rattlesnake Oil" seller who visited this city at the same time Chief White Eagle held forth, was found murdered in Pittsburg, July 3, according to information given the chief of police by a pen seller who was here at the same time and who returned Friday evening.

The oil seller, who remained only one evening, and was a rival of White Eagle, held forth on the west side of the city hall, with glowing accounts of his 500-acre rattlesnake farm in the West from which his "pure" product came. He wore rawhide clothing, and illustrated his remarks with a live snake which he promised to kill and extract the substance from which his product was made, as an illustration after the sales. By the judicious use of dollars along with the first bottles, he succeeded in disposing of quite a lot of the product. After he had gone, those who bit found they had merely diluted water.

No details of the murder are known. According to the information the pen man had, robbery was probably the object.

Pearls are very much worn. Pink pearls are wonderfully lovely and rank in value with the white at the left side over a contrasting underskirt.

One might question the story, to the effect that a Minneapolis girl wants her name changed from Olsen to Smith because there so many Olsens in the Minnesota metropolis, till it is learned that eighty-five per cent. of the population of the further Twin City is Scandinavian.

Of course, President Taft wants to be good to the fellows aspiring to places in congress, but when the increase of the house membership bill comes up to him, he should consider, also, the feelings of the plain people.

Colonel Henri Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, declares that "Adam was no gentleman." The colonel has probably discovered that our common ancestor never owned a mint bed.

A New York banker is quoted as saying that the postal savings banks will prove an unmixed blessing. He thinks that they will bring out vast sums now hoarded in small amounts by those fearful of the commercial banks; that their accounts will, as they gain confidence, be transferred to the commercial banks and made active and that the country will have more money than ever with which to do business. This was the view of those who urged the law for years and seems to be justified in the brief experience with the number of banks thus far instituted.

We are pleased to note that some of the trustees of state institutions are showing flashes of independence in the closing hours of their service to the state. They are to be legislated out of office on August 15. The trustees of the School for the Blind refused to oust Dr. Van Cleaf, the superintendent, to make way for one of the governor's partisans. The alleged bi-partisan board of control, with a membership of three Democrats and one Republican—all Harmon appointees—will probably get Dr. Van Cleaf's place later, but the action of the board of trustees is to be commended.

Mr. Gompers has arrayed himself in opposition to some of his followers in criticizing a court injunction compelling a western street railway company to reinstate discharged employes pending arbitration of differences resulting in a strike. But Mr. Gompers is consistent. He holds that if the court can order the employers to take back employes it can order employes back to work, and this, he proclaims, to be industrial slavery.

President Simon, of Hayti, has taken the treasury of his country and gone to enjoy life on the continent. There seems to be no hope of peace in the black republic with the rival armies of LeConte and Firmin in the field. Under these circumstances we suggest as a compromise Jack Arthur Johnson, who seems to have fallen out with his own country and probably would enjoy ruling over one in which he could make his own speed laws.

One can hardly blame "Uncle Jud" Harmon for breaking away for the lakes. There's a baby show on down in Columbus, and a fellow with a presidential bee in his bonnet hasn't any business fooling around a baby show.

The Moroccan incident has again demonstrated how far from the mark were the predictions of those, who, at the time the Kaiser ascended the throne, were wont to style him the "War Lord." Emperor William is shrewd enough to know that the fruits of war are very often infinitesimally few and far between when compared with its burdens, while the fruits of diplomacy are mighty as compared to its cost.

A scientist tells us the use of an alarm clock leads to heart disease, as a result of the shocks sustained by the nervous system when the alarm goes off. We do not know how sound his claim may be from a scientific viewpoint, but it "listens" mighty good to a lot of us.

The fellow who told the postal commission that magazines would not be read were it not for the advertisements, was well within the bounds of truth. Neither would be the newspapers. They wouldn't be printed.

Senator La Follette is opposed to increasing the house membership. The senator would decrease it. As a matter of fact, Bob can see no reason why the government should not be vested in one man, provided, of course, that he's the man.

Speaking about the "Oregon plan," it may be noted that there has recently been an illuminating exposition at Washington. A Portland congressman sent a "mash" note to a young lady he had never met; that was the initiative. She turned the note over to her father who secured a horsewhip and apology; that was the referendum. Next year there will be a congressional election in Portland; then will come the recall.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.

GREATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT OF PRESIDENT TAFT

It is impossible at this time to write correctly the public estimate of the Taft administration in general. Perhaps we shall not know the abiding public estimate when popular preference is registered at the polls next year, but we venture to write now that he will occupy a big page in history. No matter how the pestiferous wrangle and jangle over Alaskan claims is finally solved, with patience worn to a frazzle meanwhile. No matter how reciprocity affects our economics or promotes comity with our northern neighbor. No matter how the political tariff tinkerers threaten or damage or benefit the country. No matter how many millions a year are saved in the cost of administration through the Taft demand for efficiency, economy and business methods. That is to say, no matter about any of these things in a relative sense. In history all of them, successes or failures, triumphs or defeats, will be overshadowed completely by his mightier accomplishment in behalf of international arbitration.

Three of the foremost nations of modern civilization have already signed—England, France and the United States. In the tri-part, international alliance is strength enough, moral, financial, naval and military, to demand peace for all the civilized world. If Germany, Russia and Japan were to sign, a world peace would be guaranteed by the compact of great nations. Japan has already expressed approval, and so modified its pact with England to permit the latter signing. Germany has frowned on the proposition, indeed the emperor pooh-poohed the idea, but Wilhelm is entitled to a second and more deliberate thought. Light is dawning in Russia. The movement so appeals to the best thought of the times that it is found to grow in force and popularity. Even if it went no further than is already recorded, the pact of peace signed by three great nations marks an epoch in world history, and its proven worth must make way rapidly for universal adoption.

It would be foolish to write that international arbitration means disarmament. Human nature and national security have not been elevated to that plane. We shall still believe in the Hobson doctrine of preparedness. France will maintain her armies, and England her navy and the United States will have the nucleus of an army and a considerable navy for years to come. But the peace pact is a step toward diminished armament, and the proven efficacy of international arbitration will some day abolish wars and warriors. With nations war is very much like our earlier tendencies in litigation. It used to be that everybody wanted to go to court, and we measured a lawyer by his cases on the docket. Nowadays people employ lawyers to keep them out of court, and it frequently happens that great lawyers have fewest cases on the docket.

Nations once rushed to war on trivial grounds. Lives and the burdens of monied cost were nothing in comparison to trivial points of honor involved. But the new tendency is to avoid the trial of armed strength. Honor is to be found in international justice. France, Great Britain and the United States are willing to trust arising differences to a distinterested commission, one to be mutually chosen, or finally The Hague tribunal. If this agreement did nothing else it would be a guaranty against haste, there will be no conclusions amid passions inflamed, and diplomacy is not to become a lost art in statesmanship.

The French thought is to force universal adoption by an agreement to boycott the nations that do not join in the movement. A French, British and American boycott in commerce, transportation and postal arrangements would be a powerful weapon, but the cause needs no such drastic promotion as that. The big thing is the inspiring example. It is not an alliance for offence, it is the pact of peace and its defense. It is the mighty forward step and elevating example of three giants among nations and leaders in twentieth century civilization. In such a contemplation it is good to know that the United States led the way, President Taft proposing. He contended that nations, which are but the aggregate of individuals, ought to settle their disputes just as individuals do under process of law. Simple enough, and patriotic and statesmanlike. The people of three great nations are applauding, and the best thought of other nations is in pleasing accord, and in the assurance of peace the world has moved tremendously forward. We can ignore the other accomplishments of the Taft administration, and on this accomplishment alone give him a high place among great American presidents.

It's remarkable how many men go to wreck and ruin trying to be "a good fellow."

Captain Hobson should have made his war prophecy along the lines of that of the Indianapolis man, who says the world will come to an end within a few years. When prophesying, there's nothing like giving yourself sufficient leeway.

Eight-cent sugar is predicted as a thing of the near future. The ultimate consumer, it will be observed, is to pay for those fines and attorneys' fees after all.

If old General Humidity is enjoying an European trip, as stated in the cables from the old world, we are satisfied that he's twins.

Laura Jean Libbey explains that Cupid's game is often all mussed up by girls, who have no voices trying to sing to the objects of their affections. "The trouble is," says Laura, "that many a girl is not aware that she has no musical voice." But why stop with the girls, Laura?

In any event, it will have to be admitted that Woodrow Wilson has grown out of the political lightweight class.

It is gently hinted that "Uncle Jud" Harmon's sleep is, at times, disturbed by dreaming about what Colonel Bryan did to the politically late Judge Alton B. Parker.

Luther Burbank deserves great credit, of course, for his development of various fruits. Still, candor compels us to say that almost any man, expert in the fruit-growing business, should be able to develop an occasional improvement on the kind raised in California.

Search is being made for a citizen of Yonkers, new York, who ran away with a woman and six children. Possible the Carnegie Hero people want to give him a medal for his nerve.

Senator La Follette says he can not be read out of the Republican party. Right you are, Bob; not until somebody reads you in.

The San Francisco woman, who killed her husband "because she could not make a man of him," probably is not the only woman who has tackled and failed at the same kind of a job, but it is equally probable that she is the first to whom came the inspiration to cover up her failure by making him a corpse.

The most freakish proposition since the Siamese twins is the joining of the Sunday baseball advocate and the ministerial opponent of Sunday ball into a common Harmon boomer.

The comment aroused by the forthcoming Astor-Force marriage goes to show, once more, that great riches are not without their burden. It is the fact that Astor has $100,000,000 that brings his case into the limelight. Strike off six ciphers and we would never have heard of it. Astor, apparently, overlooked his riches, but the world has not.

We glean from a correspondent that a fellow down in the southern part of the state is "breaking horses of various bad habits that have been shipped from far distant points." The attention of the Interstate Commerce commission should be called, at once, to the transportation of anything so vicious.

The word from Washington is that Mr. Taft will experiment as to the effect of a little veto on the Arizona-New Mexico statehood bill, with its little clause for the recall of the judiciary.

So Mr. Underwood decided not to send Mr. Perkins to jail. My, my! Mr. Underwood! That's no way to make yourself solid with the "plain people," as Colonel Bryan would say.

Governor Harmon, through his lieutenants, has sought, and he is said to have secured, the support of the baseball players and fans of the land in his pursuit of the presidential bee, possibly because he did not veto the Sunday baseball bill. "Uncle Jud" is certainly the wise old fox. His next move will probably be to go after the support of those opposed to Sunday baseball on the ground that he didn't sign the bill.

It is evident that the fellows, who realized $1,000,000 by selling stock in a company organized to manufacture a machine to catch electrical power from the rays of the sun, have read the J. Rufus Wallingford stories, but the wonder is why some of the suckers who bought the stock had not.

"All the forces of the present and all the prospects of the future," says the New York World, "promise peace. America is fortunately free from the ancient hatred of sect or race or nation. We therefore must take the lead for peace. What President Taft has done in this respect will count among the highest services he has rendered the republic. And the good will of the world is with him." And this from the Democratic World! We are nearer the millennium than we imagined.

Kaler, on whom the check was forged, Prosecutor C. L. Justice, Sheriff John Stark and Justice Conley. The boy claimed he forged the check to secure some money he needed, but he had $25 when arrested. As a result of the confession the boy was bound over to the grand-jury, his bond being fixed at $100, in default of which he was taken to jail. According to the story of the brother of the accused, the latter is only nineteen years of age.

NEARING COMPLETION IS NEW SANATORIUM

Novel Bungalow Group at the White Oaks Farm.

MAKING REALITY OF CHERISHED DREAM

The New Sanatorium Group Has Been Only Thirteen Weeks in Construction, Thus Far, and Will Be Ready for Occupancy in September—Description of "White Oaks."

If Aladdin with his famous lamp happens to stroll in the vicinity of White Oaks farm he will learn something of a trick or two. Thirteen weeks ago a spade had never entered the soil on the edge of the beautiful grove that borders the Hocking Valley and C., D. & M. railway lines, where the White Oaks road turns east from its southerly course and makes directly for the Prospect pike. Today the new Sawyer sanatorium of White Oaks farm, in a strikingly unusual bungalow group, is hurrying along to completion so rapidly that occupancy is planned for the middle of September The wonderful new institution, unlike any other in all the world, has been builded in a night, as it were, and a long cherished dream of Dr. C. E. Sawyer is fast becoming a reality.

Last February Dr. Sawyer journeyed to California on an outing trip. He had been thinking of a new sanatorium on the White Oaks farm for months and months. On the long railway ride the dream began to take definite form, and at Los Angeles he met Arthur S. Hinamon, the most famous bungalow architect of the world, and related to him his fancy of a group of bungalows for a sanatorium. "You are just the man I have been waiting for," said Hinamon. "I have dreamed the same dream" In a trice Architect Hinamon and his force of experts were all at work, on the first bungalow group for sanatorium purposes ever planned. And there was no stop until the scheme was worked out in detail and specifications written. Then Dr. Sawyer forgot his vacation, cut out an intended sailing to Hawaii and turned his way homeward, to build after the chosen plans. The new group of structures at White Oaks farm, now hurrying to completion, is the result.

The group is not pretentious in appearance—the illustration herewith shows that. But it is pretty as can be, immensely attractive, and a more pleasing health-seeking home will be difficult to find anywhere. It is novel, of course, and cozy amid ample room, well proportioned and beautiful, and up-to-the-minute in modern building contrivances. It is a southern California effect worked out on a beautifully-shaded hillside on the edge of the city of Marion.

White Oaks farm skirts Marion corporation, at the southwestern limits, and is reached by the White Oaks road running south from Bellefontaine avenue where the interurban line crosses the avenue. The road turns eastward at the south boundary of the farm to connect with the Prospect pike. Pretty soon there will be an interurban and Hocking Valley station there, where all interurban cars will stop, and all Hocking Valley trains will stop for incoming or outgoing guests. Moreover, the city car line service is likewise to extend to the farm station. But the Marionite with carriage or motor car will prefer to drive and to those who know the delights of walking, it is only a fine stroll. It is so close to Marion as to be a part of it, and yet finds its setting in the quiet and charm of the atmosphere of the farm and grove. The location affords nearly every pleasant view of everyday life. From the east front one sees the steam car and trolley, not too close, a little beyond the new Marion Steam Shovel & Dredge company's plant; still beyond, the passing carriages and motor cars on Prospect pike, finally the roofs, steeples and towering structures of Marion. To the north the eye first rests on White Oaks lake, with three or four acres of water surface and very inviting; beyond that looms the western fringe of Marion, with grove and field intervening. To the west is a grove, a beautiful one, and hill and vale, and orchard, and that portion of White Oaks which is actually farmed, and the eye can distinguish the Green Camp pike, with varied vehicles tracing the white line of highway in a background of green. The southern view is as rural and agricultural and wooded as though it were miles out in the country. In all it is a beautiful spot for rest and the pursuit of health.

The novelty is the sanatorium group of bungalows. The very front and central structure is the administration building, farthest to the east and fronting squarely on White Oak road. It is of story-and-a-half height, but is of bungalow type. On its left and right, as shown in cut, but not yet erected are to be the polytechnic and electropathic buildings. They will come next year. Adjoining these, one south and one north are the two private bungalows, for the present to be used as dwellings by Dr. C. E. Sawyer and Dr. C. W. Sawyer. When the big scheme is finally worked out these private bungalows will be available to patients and guests who desire private quarters. Next to these, in the octagon, are the six bungalows for patients' quarters, 36x68 feet in dimensions, and with capacity for ten patients or guests to each bungalow. Next come the two two-story buildings, the only ones of frame construction. The others are builded of hollow tile, cement stucco finish, stippled and tinted in a chocolate brown. The frame buildings are done in brown and green, and harmonize effectively. The frame building to the southwest is the hydropathic department, with very complete bath equipment on the main floor and nurses quarters above The building to the northwest is the culinary building, with the kitchen on the main floor, and quarters for domestic help on the second floor. Between these two, on the opposite side of the connecting cloister is the dining room and social hall, with its great porch, facing the court, which, by the way, is 100 by 250 feet, with a goodly number of beautiful trees, just as nature reared them from natural planting. This great dining-room porch is to be more than an out-of-door resting spot. it is to be the stage for all court events of the sanatorium family and its guests. The plan is as novel as it is promising. This immense court will be carpeted with lawn, is fronted by all the rooming bungalows, with porches to each of them, and will eventually contain a beautiful summer house—la casita, the Spanish say—in its very center.

Getting back to the dining room, it has a capacity to seat 116, which is ample for other bungalow growth, for the rooming quarters are only builded, thus far, for sixty guests, and the forty helpers, a total family of one hundred. The latter have dining quarters in the culinary building. The plan of grouping admits of doubled or trebled capacity if need arises, but Dr. Sawyer was quite emphatic in saying that the policy of the new sanatorium is not to see how big it can be made, but how good it may be proven.

The group of buildings, save the administration building, are connected by a cloister, extending 1,040 feet in length. This cloister, as the cut shows, connects rooming bungalows and dining hall on the outside, while other buildings join the cloister from its outside. It is the artery of complete communication, can be thrown quite open in fair weather, and closed and heated in the winter. There isn't a step from one level to another in all its course. Beneath the cloister floor is a tunnel for piping and wiring of all kinds, instantly accessible.

The sanatorium will have its own water system, has its own sewage disposal plant, the Ashley system, and has the most up-to-date electrical equipment that modern invention has developed. Every room has wired connections for fan, light, call bell, water heater and the like Interior finishing is varied. The rooming bungalows are named instead of numbered, one the Ivy, another the Rose, another the Clematis, and the name not only suggests the interior finish, but will be significant of the floral culture about it. Wagner, of Sidney, has the floral culture and landscape gardening in charge, after plans worked out with architect Hinamon. A great crescent drive will front the group, while drives will border the lake and stretch away to the western limit of the farm on the Green Camp road. The lake is to be enhanced by botanical gardens. "We are aiming to enhance out-of-door life," said Dr. Sawyer. Indeed this thought is so dominant that an avenue of out-of-door sleeping rooms is planned for the grove southwest of the group. These quarters will have cement floors, thatched roofs, and canvass sides Out-door life is to be encouraged in every way. It will be intimately related to the plans for polytechnic development The thought is to give patients something to do and be interested in besides their ailments. With this, physical culture is to be freely encouraged.

The swift construction has gone on under Dr. C E. Sawyer's personal management, and the mechanical supervision of Samuel Snyder. None of the work has been contracted.

From a distance the group of low brown buildings with their gray roofs is not imposing, but it is immensely pleasing to the eye, and the attractiveness grows as one approaches. Actual inspection makes one marvel in admiration.

As soon as the finishers complete a bungalow furnishing will begin. Dr. Sawyer expresses the belief that occupancy will be possible by September 15. The same medical staff and same family of helpers and nurses will carry on the work in the new home.

ELZA HOWSER DIES IN HOSPITAL IN COLUMBUS

Death Follows Misfortune in the Meridian of Life.

The Passing of an Excellent Citizen and a Good Friend—Funeral Services Were Held in LaRue Church Saturday.

Elza Howser, a former resident of this city, died in the state hospital in Columbus, at 5 o'clock Thursday morning, as the result of a protracted illness.

Mr. Howser was the eldest son of James Howser, of Claridon township, and was born and reared in this county. He was a fraction over forty years of age, and passed a great part of his life in this city, being for a number of years employed by John Flach as a cattle buyer, in which line he was an expert.

A widow and two young daughters are left to mourn the loss of husband and father. The deceased was preceded in death by his mother and one sister, Mrs. Clarence Fields, Aside from the surviving members of his family mentioned, he also leaves one brother, Ora Howser, a prominent farmer in Scott township.

The remains were taken from Columbus to LaRue, Thursday evening, and the funeral services were held at the Baptist church in that village at 1:30 o'clock Saturday. The services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Sutton.

The announcement of the death of Mr. Howser, although expected for some time, came as a shock to many friends of the deceased in this city, by whom he was held in the highest regard. Mr. Howser came to Marion as a young man and by quiet, straightforward, manful living earned and received the respect accorded a sterling citizen in any community. Misfortune and death darkened and closed his life early, but he will be long remembered by those who knew him best.

REV. JOSEPH REINICKE WILL LEAVE MARION

Pastor Will Move to Wooster in a Short Time.

HIS RESIGNATION ANNOUNCED SUNDAY

Will Go to Wooster To Give Children Better Educational Advantages. Rev. Thomson Barkdull, of Toledo, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Church Services of Sunday.

Rev. Joseph Reinicke, pastor of the Salem's Evangelical Protestant church, tendered his resignation, Sunday morning, after six and a half years of service in the local church. Rev. Mr. Reinicke resigns to take a charge at Wooster His resignation will be acted on at a congregational meeting to be held next Sunday morning, and at that time he will decide when he will take up his work in the new pastorate.

Rev. Mr. Reinicke does not resign because of any faction in the church, as the best of harmony and relation exists between the pastor and his congregation. His resignation is purely a personal matter, he wishing to give his children an opportunity to enter the Wooster college where they can receive a finished education.

During the years that Rev. Mr. Reinicke has been associated with the Marion church, he has made many warm, personal friends, not only among the members of his own congregation, but others. His resignation will be learned with regret by many. He has done much for the building up of his church and for the good of the community.

Rev. Mr. Reinicke preached, Sunday morning, on "The Enemies of Souls, the False Prophets." He took his text from Jeremiah 23:28:29. The speaker said the false prophets are to be recognized by the contents and success of their preaching. They should be judged thereby, for by their fruits they shall be known. He did not touch on his resignation in his sermon.

At St. Paul's Church.

Rev. Thomson Barkdull, of Toledo, occupied the pulpit at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Sunday morning, and was heard by a fair-sized congregation. He spoke on "The Transfiguration."

In his opening remarks, the minister referred to the mountains as great landmarks in history. Great epochs of Bible history were marked by the happenings on the mountains. The transfiguration was one of them, for there Christ, Peter and John caught a glimpse of the heavenly as they went apart on the mountain side alone. Prayer opened up the way then, just as it does now. It causes the earthly things to flee away and we enter into a higher state. The disciples caught only a glimpse of the eternal things, but they declared that it was good to be there, and rejoiced.

"The transfiguration demonstrates that there is a future life," the speaker declared. "Moses and Elijah had been long dead, but there they appeared as they were when they left the earth. The saddest thing of our lives is death. But for our faith, we must believe that all is swallowed up in death, and that death is the end of our existence. That we shall forever be with the Lord is the pleasing fact of our faith, and we know that God will take care of us. This is the glory of the immortal state. Eye hath not seen nor the ear heard the glory of the things which the Lord hath prepared for us. We shall see Him as He is. If it was good that the disciples were at the transfiguration when only a glimpse was gained, how much better is the eternal state. Earth and heaven met once at that time and the glory of it was indescribable."

A Recital at Church.

A large audience heard Paul Bertram Gast, of Prospect, in his organ recital at the Emanuel Lutheran church, Sunday evening. The recital, which was one of the finest given in the city for some time, was rendered under the auspices of the church choir. The recital was free, but a silver collection was taken.

An excellent program of piano selections was given by Mr. Gast, which consisted of Wely's offertorie in E. flat; Mendelssohn's sonata, Op. 65, No. 1; a serenade from Wider; Lemaigre's "Capricco; F. Lux's "O. Sanctissima, Op. 29;" W. C. Macfarlane's "Scherzo in G Minor." Saint Saens' "Fantastic," and "In the Twilight" by F. F. Harker. Mr. Gast closed the program with a processional, "Queen of Sheba," by Gounod.

Mr. Gast was ably assisted by Miss Anna Howard, a well-konwn reader of this city. Miss Howard recited a musical monologue, "Not Understood," and "The Angels and Shepherds," from "Ben Hur,' in her most pleasing manner. Both numbers were well received.

Mr. Gast, who is a graduate of the college of music at Delaware, was heard with pleasure in his various numbers. He has gained a wide reptation as a musician, and his recital Sunday evening was a treat to lovers of high-class music

O COMPANY RETURNS FROM WEEK IN CAMP

The Week Proves Both Pleasant and Profitable.

NOT AN ACCIDENT TO MAR MANEUVERS

David Wisebaker Is Overcome by Heat While Marching to the Armory Sunday—Men Qualified as Expert Riflemen and Marksmen—No Time Is Wasted in Traveling.

Forty-nine members of D company, Fourteenth regiment, O. N. G., including three officers, returned home after a week's stay in Camp Perry, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Camp was broken at 10 o'clock in the morning, making a solid week of shooting and maneuvers of very great benefit to the men.

Captain E. O. Richardson reported a fine time when seen Monday. Not an accident marred the maneuvers of the week, and the only case of sickness was developed as the boys were returning to the armory from the union depot, Sunday, when David Wisebaker, of Chicago, was overcome by the heat. All the men were perspiring heavily when they reached the armory, and the intense heat caused them to suffer considerably after their week of hard work in camp. While pleasurable as an outing, there was much hard work connected with the stay at Camp Perry and the men were given a thorough working out They were badly sunburned when they arrived home.

Three men were qualified by Captain Richardson as expert riflemen. They are Charles G. Jaycox, of this city; Tracy Kellar, of Prospect, and Denzell I. Scoarse, of Carey. Eighteen were qualified as marksmen.

Some excellent shooting was done by all the men, who were given full opportunity this year to be in line. Civilian cooks were employed in order that the men might be on the firing line.

The company left here, Sunday, July 30, and returned on Sunday so that no time was occupied in traveling that could be otherwise used in camp or while the maneuvers or shooting were in progress.

Next year, D company will go to the Gettysburg battleground and participate in the maneuvers followed in the great and decisive battle of the civil war. The men will go to Gettysburg as a resul. of the transfer of the Ohio troops from the Central to the Eastern division

In order to qualify as a marksman, ninety-eight points out of 150 must be secured. Those qualifying and their scores were:

Sergeant James Smith, 114; John F. Dall, 109; Pearl Eaton, 106; Ray L. Williams, 104; Troy E. Pratt, 104; Charles Frye, 103; C. W. Sidenstricker, 102; Hoyt W. Orth, 102; Sergeant Roy Miller, 102; Irvin Isenbarger, 100; Clarence Austin, 99; Sergeant Grover E. Zimmer, 99; Harry Throckmorton, 98, A. Miller, 98; Ernest Neee, 98.

HOGAN'S RULING HELPS TEACHERS

Will No Longer Have To Pay for Attending Institutes.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—Attorney General Hogan, today, put money into the pockets of every one of the 30,000 or more school teachers in Ohio, when he knocked out, by a legal opinion, the long-established custom of requiring teachers to pay fees to attend county institutes.

Hogan finds that the custom has no standing in law whatever, but is purely arbitrary on the part of executive committees that manage the county institutes.

Every teacher who attends a county institute is entitled to draw his or her regular teacher's pay during the institute, but before they can receive the necessary certificate entitling them to pay they must first be regularly enrolled. Hogan, in his opinion, comes pretty close to characterizing the enrollment fee as a "holdup," pointing out that the teachers have no recourse but to pay the fee, unless they are willing to waive salary during the institute. He asks prosecuting attorneys to advise executive committees of institutes to discontinue the practice of charging the fee.

"I saw the money stacked in the teller's window," he said. "I didn't have enough to eat. I just made up my mind to get some of that money. I told Jimmy Collins. He's ten. I got him to watch the teller while I fished the bills out of the teller's cage with a hooked wire when he wasn't looking.

Property Not Sold.

The Robert Beatty property, located at the corner of Church and High streets, which was to have been sold to the highest bidder, Saturday, was not sold, owing to the fact that it was appraised to be sold as a whole. Many of the bidders wished parts of the property and were disappointed. The property will probably be offered for sale about September 9, and will be offered as a whole at that time. If it fails to sell as a whole, it will be reappraised in three parts and the portions will be sold separately at a later date It is thought that the buyers will join and buy the property complete

POLICE COURT.

Joseph U. Bush, who was to have been sent to the workhouse in default of a bond of $500 to furnish two dollars a week for the support of his minor child, secured his release Saturday afternoon and without giving bond. Bush s release was brought about through a reconciliation with his wife.

Believing he was doomed to go to the workhouse, Bush asked the chief to go with him to get some clean clothes. The chief drove him to the home of Bush's wife, and when the two saw each other, the spark of love again broke into flame. The two threw their arms around each other, and both broke into tears. So happy was the woman to see her husband that she fainted, and Bush carried her into a room, where he also met his boy. The woman was revived, and then the chief ordered Bush to come along. The wife asked for another interview with her husband, and while they were in a room he took an oath to support and stay by her and lead a better life.

As a result of his promise, Mrs. Bush called the attorneys of the Humane society and told them of the reconciliation. She said that she believed Bush would do what was right, and asked if there was not some method by which he could be released and allowed to return to her.

The attorneys then held a conference with the mayor, and Bush was released without giving bond. He will have to pay the $10 fine and costs, and the workhouse sentence will be held over him to help to keep him straight.

The police were called to the livery barn of E. L. Gray, Saturday night, to arrest Fred Howell on a charge of overdriving a horse and smashing a buggy. When the rig was secured, Howell was accompanied by Oakley Miller, but the latter did not return with Howell. Monday Humane Officer J. W. Uish filed affidavits against Howell and Miller charging them with cruelty to the horse. Howell admitted his guilt later, and was fined three dollars and costs which he paid.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT IN THE EVANS QUARRY

James Cook and Herbert Pine Are the Victims.

COOK HAS BOTH HIS EYES BLOWN OUT

Unfortunate Man Also Suffers Other Injuries That Will Probably Result in His Death—Herbert Pine Loses an Eye and Has Face Filled with Dynamite—Story of Accident.

James Cook, aged about fifty-five years, residing on Meadow street, was probably fatally injured and Herbert Pine, aged sixteen, residing on Bartram avenue, was seriously injured as a result of a premature explosion of a blast at the John Evans Lime & Stone company's plant about 10 o'clock Tuesday. The men were doing some blasting, and were tamping a charge of dynamite when the explosion occurred.

Mr. Cook suffered frightful injuries. Both of his eyes were blown out and the frontal bone around his eyes was fractured. A large portion of his nose was torn away, his upper lip was badly lacerated and a bad cut on the side of his neck which almost reached the jugular vein was suffered. He was also badly cut up about the arms and body, and sustained a large gash on one of his legs. The left eye of the Pine boy was ruptured and it will be necessary to remove the eye. His face was filled with dynamite and he received several small cuts.

The Hess & Markert ambulance was called and removed the victims to their homes where they were attended by Drs. A. Rhu and J. B. Taylor. According to the attending surgeons, Cook's condition is very serious and he will probably die. The unfortunate man has a wife and family and is well known in the city. A brother of the Pine boy met with a similar accident at the quarries at Owens a couple of months ago.

JUDGE WILLIAMS SAYS HE ACTS IN GOOD FAITH

Files an Answer in Contempt Case in Columbus.

Judge C. C. Williams of the firm of Williams, Williams, Taylor & Nash, who was cited for contempt of the Franklin county court in connection with the appointment of George Whysall as receiver for the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company by Judge Daniel Babst in the Marion county courts July 11, filed his separate answer yesterday. Mr. Whysall has been ordered to file an answer by Judge Thomas M. Bigger and probably will do so this week.

Judge Williams declares that he represented Messrs. Webb, Whysall and Walker, at Marion, in good faith, and was only looking after their interests and property. He claims that the original C., D. & M. case was filed there two years ago and that the contempt proceedings here were not brought in the interest of the proper party, the state.—Ohio State Journal.

MOVE TO SELL PROPERTY OF C., D. & M. COMPANY

Judge Babst Issues a Decree in Case Monday.

ORDER FOR MARION SHERIFF TO FOLLOW

Sheriff Is Directed To Have the Holdings of the C., D. & M. Company Appraised and After Advertising They Are To Be Sold at Public Sale To Satify Obligations.

Judge Daniel Babst, of the local court of common pleas, has issued an order for the sale of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion. Such was the rather startling development of Tuesday in the C., D. & M. controversy.

Strange as it may seem, the Star had to go away from home for its news, the first intimation of the court's action coming in a telephone message from Bucyrus.

The message was to the effect that Judge Babst, Saturday, had decreed that an order issue to the sheriff of Marion county commanding him to appraise, advertise and sell at public auction as upon execution at the west door of the courthouse in this city, the property of the C., D. & M. to satisfy a mortgage of $1,000,000 given to the Western Reserve Trust company, of Cleveland, and now held by the Cleveland Trust company, successor to the Western Reserve Trust company; two mortgages for $300,000 each held by the Standard Trust company, of New York; and a mortgage for $2,500,000 held by the Mercantile Trust company, of New York, the last-named mortgage covering the other three and being held as a prior claim against the property.

Not on Record.

Upon the receipt of the Bucyrus message, inquiry was made at the office of the county clerk, who gave the assurance that there was no such order of record in his office and that he had no knowledge of such an order.

Judge Babst was at once called by phone at his home in Crestline. He assured the Star that he had issued the order and stated that it could be secured from Clerk Klinefelter. When told that no such order was on record, he said there should be, as it had been sent to the clerk and should be open to the public as it was a public record.

Later Clerk Klinefelter called up the Star and stated that he had found the order at the bottom of a long journal entry sent him by Judge Babst which he had not taken time to read.

The journal entry in question, after dwelling upon the legal and financial status of the defendant company, finds that the following statements of the plaintiff are true:

That the defendant company has no other property; that the action is brought for the benefit of the plaintiff and all other creditors; that if execution be levied the business of the company would be stopped and its good will impaired and that the equity which now exists as the sole asset for the payment of the unsecured creditors would be lost, and that, unless a receiver be appointed, said property actions at law would be instituted and that only by the appointment of a receiver herein could the property of said company be preserved and sold as a going concern; that the operation of the company under the present conditions would result in loss and wasting of assets, and that it is impossible for the company to continue its business in its present financial condition without loss to creditors and stockholders, and that the sale of the property and assets and collection of its accounts are necessary to the payment and discharge of its debts.

The court finds, that, by reason of these facts, the equity aforesaid under the management and control of the said company in its present condition is in danger of being entirely lost to the general creditors or materially lessened in value.

The court holds that the allegations of the defendant's answer and an amended answer are true, but finds from the evidence that the allegations of the plaintiff's petition, that he is the holder and owner of the promissory note attached to his petition and that said promissory note held by him as collateral or otherwise, are not true.

The court then goes into the matters which have heretofore been given publicity and finally gets to the order. He finds that the averments of the answers and cross-petitions of Leffler & Bland and A. E. McBee, Robert W. Bingham and Samuel Castleman, for want of answer or reply, are confessed to be true, and that the last three named are entitled to appear in this action and defend same as against the claims of the plaintiff, Newton J. Catrow, and other claimants to the property of the railroad company.

And the court finds and decrees that the plaintiffs and all the said cross-petitioners are entitled to have the property and assets of the defendant railroad company sold and the proceeds subjected to the payment of their, and other, debts of the defendant company.

It is then ordered that the sheriff proceed as hereinbefore stated and make due return of his proceedings to the court

James H. Eymon is appointed special master commissioner and is directed, upon giving due notice of his appointment by advertising in the papers of Marion, Delaware and Franklin counties, to fix a day and place for taking testimony and taking account of all the liabilities of the defendant company, and the amount and nature thereof and that such notice shall name the time and place where such claimants shall be heard.

HEALTH OFFICER NOW HAS A MILK TESTER

Will See That Standard of Milk Is Maintained.

Harry S. Mesloh, one of the state sanitary inspectors, has completed his first inspection trip to Marion. The inspector was accompanied on part of his tour by Health Officer Bain. He closed his inspection trip by visiting the bakeries and some of the grocery stores, and will make his report to the state department.

The state inspector left with Health Officer Bain a milk tester, and the local health officer will see that the milk of the various dealers comes up to the required test. Of the twelve samples of milk secured by the inspector and health officer, all but one passed the test. This one sample was found to be diluted with water and fell far below the required test. This sample was secured from a dealer who purchases his milk in large quantities from another party. The milk of the dairymen and dealers will be tested from time to time, and in cases where it is found that the milk has been diluted, arrests will probably be made.

LINCOLN AVENUE LAD TURNS IN FALSE ALARM

Boy's Father Tells Fire Chief as to Cause of Trouble.

About 11 o'clock Monday night, the twelve-year-old son of George Miller, of Lincoln avenue, turned in an alarm of fire from box, No. 66, located at the corner of Wilson and Lincoln avenues. The firemen were aroused from their slumbers and made the long run, at the expiration of which the horses were about exhausted. On reaching the vicinity it was soon learned that there was no cause for the alarm and that some miscreant had turned in the alarm.

Tuesday morning, George Miller informed Chief McFarland that it was his son who had turned in the alarm. The boy has been incorrigible and was with some companions visiting in the city. He wanted to show them a few of the pranks of city youths. The chief went to the boy's home Tuesday morning and gave him a good talking to, threatening to have him sent to the Lancaster reform school if he repeated the act.

AMMANN HARDWARE STORE BURGLARIZED

Thief Secures Eleven Revolvers from Store.

LEAVES OTHER GOODS IN VERY EASY REACH

Three Automatic Revolvers Are in the Lot of Stolen Goods—Oakley Miller Escapes from Officer Bert Powell—Notes of Interest in the Local Police Court.

The Ammann hardware store on west Center street was burglarized, some time Monday night or next morning, and eleven revolvers, valued at about $85, were secured. The burglary was first discovered Tuesday, when Mr. Ammann, the proprietor, opened for business. It is the opinion of the proprietor that the place was entered early Tuesday morning as Merchants' Officer A. B. Crabb visited the store several times during the night and every thing was in order.

Three automatic Colt revolvers were among the number taken. It is believed that the thief was frightened away or was satisfied with the loot he secured, as there were three more fine revolvers in a nearby case, while the case from which he secured the weapons was filled with fine pocket knives, but nothing was missing except the eleven revolvers. Entrance to the store was gained by breaking a glass in one of the back windows. The burglary was reported to the police and the proprietor furnished a slight clue that may lead to the arrest of the guilty party.

Monday evening, Officer Powell went to the boarding house of Oakley Miller, in the northwest part of the city, to arrest Miller on two charges. A warrant is held against Miller charging him with overdriving a horse and a second warrant charges him with assault. When Miller saw the officer approaching, he took to his heels by a back route and made for the Hocking Valley railroad yards. The officer just secured a glimpse of Miller and started after him, but was soon lost, and abandoned the chase.

A 5c—10c—25c Store.

Marion Is To Have a New Kind of Store—Popular in All Cities—W. B. DeVeny Starts a Sale.

After much planning and many visits to similar large city stores, W. B. DeVeny has decided to transform his south Main street business into a 5, 10 and 25 cent store.

All over the country it is recognized that the possibilities of 5 and 10 cent stores has been reached. Great wholesale syndicates have been formd which are now meeting the more popular demand, by going a step farther and providing 5, 10 and 25 cent stores—and these are meeting wonderful success.

Mr. DeVeny some years ago made a wonderful success when Racket stores were first started, and he will at once begin shaping present stocks with a view to selling nothing over 25c. The host of merchandise possible to sell at this price is wonderful and the public will doubtless be quick to respond to its advantages.

Within a few days everything in the DeVeny store that can't be sold for 25c or less will be put on sale at much below regular worth. Then soon DeVeney's 5-10-25c store will be known as a place where a quarter or less will buy just about everything needed in the home or to wear.

THE BILLS PREPARING FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

Races, Music and Fireworks on the Program.

MONEY PRIZES FOR THE PEOPLE IN THE RACES

Bakers Band Will Give Concerts During the Afternoon and Evening. Orchestra Will Furnish Music for Dancers in the Evening—How Race Contestants May Enter.

The annual Bill picnic will be held at the fairground Labor day, September 4. A fine program of races and music is being arranged for the occasion and the "Bills" in charge of the affair are endeavoring to make it a grand success.

At a meeting held at Bill Strayer's drug store, Monday evening, arrangements were made and a program was prepared which is sure to draw a large crowd, not only of "Bills" and their families but of all their friends.

Baker's band will give concerts both afternoon and evening and a five-piece orchestra will furnish music for the dancers. The grounds will be illuminated with electricity in the evening, and balloon ascensions and fireworks will make a very happy ending for one of the greatest days in the history of the Marion County Bills—providing the weatherman is on his good behavior.

The race program is being carefully arranged and money prizes will be offered to the winners in all the races. The county trot and pace will be in charge of Bill Holverstott and Bill Foster; the motorcycle race, which is open to all, will be in charge of Bill Strayer, and the auto race, which is also open to any who wish to enter, will be taken charge of by Bill Meiley. NEGRO MURDERER IS GIVEN A REPRIEVE

Charles Justice Gets Respite Until September 22.

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—From his summer home in Charlevoix, Michigan, at noon today, Governor Harmon telegraphed a reprieve until September 22 for Charles Justice, the negro murderer, who was due to die in the electrical chair at the Ohio penitentiary shortly after midnight tonight

In his message to John Devanney his executive clerk, Governor Harmon stated that he had not had time to go over all the papers in Justice's case as thoroughly as he wished and for that reason was granting the reprieve.

Devanney immediately got in touch with Warden Jones and told him of the governor's action.

This is the third reprieve granted Justice by the governor. The crime for which Justice was sentenced to die was the killing of John Shoup, a farmer, living near Xenia, in April, 1910.

DOUBLE BEREAVEMENT OF RICHWOOD PEOPLE

Death of Two Members of the Allgower Family.

ELI SLOOP DIES AFTER ILLNESS OF TWO YEARS

Mr. Sloop Is Stricken Two Years Ago While Traveling in the West. Never Recovers His Health—F. H. Thornhill Sells His Hardware Store—Other Richwood Notes.

Richwood, O., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. Carl Allgower and Mrs Fred Bolenbaugh have passed through a double bereavement during the past week. Their mother, Mrs George Schlegel, died suddenly of apoplexy, at her home in Marysville, last Thursday. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon. Sunday morning, their brother, Leonard Schlegel, died after an illness of several months, of tuberculosis. The young man was twenty-one years old and grief over his mother's death hastened the end. The deceased is survived by his father, eight sisters and three brothers. Funeral services over his remains were held Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Leota Kagay, of Marion, is visiting her sister, Mrs T. D Lentz, and other relatives.

J. F. Woods left, Tuesday, for Lexington, Kentucky, to spend several days.

After an illness covering a period of two years, Eli Sloop, a highly-respected resident of Richwood, died at his home on east Ottawa street, Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. August 8, 1909, exactly two years before the day of his death, the deceased, together with his daughter, Mrs. Henry Adams, started for Portland, Oregon, to attend the World's fair and to visit relatives in the coast cities. On the way West Mr. Sloop, who up to that time had always enjoyed good health, became ill. On reaching Portland he was very ill at a hotel and was advised to return home immediately, the climate not agreeing with him. Since that time, he had been an invalid, suffering intensely at times. He was afflicted by kidney trouble and complications. He was a soldier in the civil war, a member of the Eighty-Second regiment. He was born in Delaware county and spent his life on a farm near Richwood up to ten years ago, when he moved here. He is survived by a widow and the following children: William C., Harrison, Benjamin F., Mrs. Henry Adams and Mrs. Reuben Cury, of Richwood; John Sloop, of Akron, and Arthur B. Sloop, of Columbus. The deceased was seventy-five years old and was married to Martha Smith fifty-three years ago. Funeral services were held from the late home, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. O. W. Williams officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Shoup cemetery.

F. H Thornhill sold his hardware store, a few days ago, to John A. Shipley and Timothy J. McAllister. This is one of the oldest business houses in Richwood, having been established more than forty years ago, by Mr Thornhill and his brother-in-law, the late D. W. Godman. The business will be conducted as in the past, the new owners retaining all of the old employes. Mr. McAllister, who has been employed as a bookkeeper by the Richwood Banking company, will sever his connection with that institution and will have charge of the books of the hardware store. Mr. Shipley, who is cashier of the Richwood Banking company, will retain his present position.

Mr and Mrs Carl Smith and children, of LaRue, spent Sunday with W. P. Smith and family.

Mrs Alice O'Dell and Miss Ethel Lindsey, of Ohio City, spent a few days with R. G. Cook and family, during the past week.

Mr and Mrs. J. C. Grant, of Marion, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Losey.

Jacob Sivey died, Monday morning at 6 o'clock, at his home in Beem's addition. Had he lived until August 12 he would have been seventy-seven years old. He had been ill for some time, paralysis being the immediate cause of his death. His long life was spent near Richwood, his birthplace being on the Tawa road, southeast of here. He followed the occupation of a farmer all of his life, retiring from active labor and moving to Richwood last March. He is survived by a widow and the following children: Miss Effie Sivey, of Richwood, Mrs Rose Orahood, of Broadway; Mrs L. A Daniels, living east of Richwood; Mrs Minnie Gast, of near Prospect; Mrs Cora McFadden, of Mt Victory; one son, Bert Sivey, who lived in Marion at one time, was instantly killed by a train in Columbus, a few years ago. By a former marriage, the following children survive: Mrs Mary Zana and Mrs. Ella Zana, of Dunkirk, and Frank Sivey, of Bellefontaine. Funeral services were held from the late home, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Rev M R Stover officiating. Interment followed at Arbella.

Henry J Brooks, president of the First National bank of Richwood, assumed his duties, Monday, as treasurer of Union county. He and his wife will reside in Marysville during his term of office. Mr. Brooks' deputy will be his brother-in-law, Rev N J. Kinney, who is preparing to move to Marysville from his farm just southwest of Richwood.

At the close of the regular service at the Christian church, Sunday evening, the pastor, Rev. E. E. Pedicord, baptized three persons. The Christian church is the only church in the village which is holding the regular evening service during the month of August.

Mrs. M. B. Koffroth spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Marion.

In honor of her departure in the near future, for her new home in Trinidad, Colorado, Mrs. William Thornhill was very pleasantly surprised, Saturday evening, by the members of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Baptist church. The ladies assembled at the residence of Mrs. Thornhill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cox, of south Franklin street, where Mr. and Mrs. Thornhill and daughters are spending the last few days of their reidence in Richwood. The evening was very pleasantly spent and as a slight token of the regard in which she is held, the society presented Mrs. Thornhill with a fine fountain pen and a beautiful silver backed clothes brush. She will be greatly missed in the society as well as in the church.

Mrs Zella M. Warren and Miss Jessie M. Jones were guests, Sunday, at a family dinner, given by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Temple, in their beautiful new country home on the Windmar pike, west of LaRue. ENGINEER BUTLER IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Struck in the Face by a Passing Boxcar.

SUFFERS INJURIES OF SERIOUS CHARACTER

Robbery of an Erie Liquor Car Is Brought to the Attention of the Erie Detectives—Lack of Section Men on the Erie—Local Railway News Notes.

Engineer Clinton Butler met with a very serious accident while on Erie fast freight, No. 79, early Wednesday morning, as this train was pulling into Huntington. Butler was leaning from the cab of his engine to keep cool when a bar on a boxcar passing on the next track struck him in the face, inflicting a deep cut in his nose and extending to his right eye. He will be off duty several days on account of the accident.

The lack of section men on the Erie is becoming a serious problem for the Erie officials. The foreign labor has become very scarce and the section and construction work has suffered much.

Earl O. Hughes, assistant engineer in the office of A. Schwartz, who is well known here, has been appointed special traveling engineer to be directly under the chief engineer of the Erie.

The robbery of an Erie train at North Judson has come to the attention of the Erie detectives along the line, who are now on the lookout for the thieves. The robbery occurred last Saturday night. Some fellows boarded the train at that place and threw off a quantity of liquor from a liquor car. A number of accomplices took the liquor away in a wagon.

The annual promotion of the Erie firemen and brakemen will be begun in the near future, according to the Erie men. The early fall business will necessitate the changes.

The local railroad men will be given their pay for the past month soon. The Pennsylvania pay-car will arrive here, Saturday, and the other roads will pay during the next few days.

Saturday night he admitted his failure to support his two-year-old child and was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse. He was unable to give a bond to pay two dollars a week to care for the child and was committed to jail.

The second case was that of Ernest J. Wheeler, a Pennsylvania operator at Norton, who was arrested at Galion Saturday night and brought here by Constable James Ullom. He pleaded not guilty Monday and was given a trial Tuesday at 9 a. m.

DECLARES OHIO LOYAL TO TAFT

Washington Post Sees President Grow Stronger.

MANY FARMERS CHANGE VIEWS

Republicans Are Gaining All Over State.

Good Record of Past Two Years Helps President and Progressive Bills Advanced by Ohio Republicans and Taken Up by Taft Just What Is Desired—Chief Executive Will Hold Delegation.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The Washington Post, in continuing its canvas of sentiment with respect to the next Republican nomination for president, prints, today, an entertaining dispatch from Columbus, which reads in part as follows:

Ohio Republicans are solidifying behind President Taft for a second term. They meant precisely what they said when, at their convention in this city a year ago, they led off their platform with this emphatic and unqualified declaration:

"We, the Republicans of Ohio, in state convention assembled, commend in highest terms the splendid administration of William H. Taft, are proud of the results he has already achieved in his seventeen months in office, and pledge him our hearty and united support in his further efforts as chief executive of the nation. We renew our pledge of loyal support given him in 1908 and indorse him for renomination in 1912."

Approaching the subject with an open mind, one is inexorably forced to the conviction that it would be absolute futile for any other aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination to secure anything resembling a foothold in the Buckeye state.

Taft Grows Stronger.

Such a man would be laughed out of his ambition within twenty-four hours after proclaiming it. Taft is growing stronger with the people of his own state every day, and it is doubtful if the statement can be controverted that he will be stronger with them as a candidate for reelection than he was in 1908, when his plurality in Ohio approximated 70,000.

Some of the farmers who have been led to believe that the Canadian reciprocity agreement would have an injurious effect upon their material welfare are yet to be convinced that they have been misadvised. But should there be disaffection among the numerically strong element of the Republican party in November, 1912, an unbiased canvass in some of the principal cities of the state indicates that it will be fully offset in the centers of population.

Ohio's delegates to the next Republican national convention will be sold for Taft. Progressives and conservatives will present an unbroken front for the state's favorite son at the convention. Ohio really is not a standpat state, even though that famous expression was coined in this very city.

Ohio Progressive.

What the late Senator Marcus A. Hanna, its author, meant when he gave it to the country as a political slogan was that at that particular time the Republicans of Ohio were satisfied with existing conditions and saw no reason for making a change lest the wonderful prosperity following the first election of President McKinley be endangered.

Ohio has always been progressive, but never with the wild extravagance which has characterized so-called insurgency in other states. At a session of the committee on resolutions at the last state convention James R. Garfield was informed by Representative E. L. Taylor, of Columbus, that a "progressive law" which the former was urging for insertion into the platform had already been on the statute books for fifty years.

Further indicitions of the progressive spirit which permeates this state are some of the enactments of the last general assembly. No commonwealth in the union adopted more progressive laws than did Ohio last spring, and these measures would not have been written had it not been for Republican votes. And these votes were cast with the full approval, even at the behest, of the state leaders of their party. Even from Washington, where it was realized by the Republican chieftain that the Democrats would claim most of the credit for the passage of such legislation, Republicans in the legislature were urged and advised to support proposed laws which in their operation would prove to be a benefit to the great masses of the people.

Annual Pilgrimage.

The annual pilgrimage to Our Lady of Consolation church at Carey began, Monday, with a candle procession and mass. Rev. Father John Mizer, the pasor, is being assisted by Rev. Father John Michaelis, of Cleveland; Rev. Father Zeabrof, also of Cleveland, and Rev. Father Ferrer, of Upper Sandusky. The services will continue for nine days. Many remarkable cures are effected there.

NOTED NEWSPAPER MAN IS KILLED

Found Dead in Elevator Shaft of a Columbus Hotel.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—Hal D. Landon, 45, widely known as a newspaper man, was found dead at the bottom of the elevator shaft in the Metropole hotel by Tom Brown, an elevator boy. Coroner Hanes and police detectives believe death was accidental and caused by Mr. Landon falling into the shaft through an unlocked door. Mr. Landon was well and favorably known. He served Cincinnati and Cleveland newspapers in Washington and New York and gave many years of his life to work in Columbus.

Massillon Plant Attached.

Massillon, O., Aug. 8.—The local plant of the Hoynes Safety Powder company, a $2,000,000 concern, with offices in Cleveland, is in the hands of Sheriff Adam Oberlin of Stark county and under guard night and day, as the result of a suit filed in common pleas court by John Ratchford, a former traveling salesman of the concern, in an effort to collect $440.49, alleged back salary.

Dog Causes Master's Death.

Lima, O., Aug. 8.—Lester Childers, 20, was drowned in a small swimming pool in a stone quarry two miles east of this city. Childers went in beyond his depth and in endeavoring to return to the bank was unable to swim and at the same time combat with his pet dog, a big Scotch collie, which swam out after the lad and persistently climbed upon his master's shoulders.

Trench Diggers Have Close Call.

Coshocton, O., Aug. 8.—Charles Willand, Martin Cunningham and William Lee were found unconscious lying in a trench, overcome by gas while repairing mains for a coal gas plant. They had lain for five hours and were nearly dead.

KEEP BOY IN CAGE WITH WILD HYENAS

South Dakota Authorities Rescue a Child from Torture.

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 8.—Kept in a cage with a pair of South American hyenas, which were being shown at a carnival, and bitton and scratched until he moaned when any one touched him, was the experience of a five-year-old boy named Jenree, according to the charges of State's Attorney Denn, who caused the arrest of the child's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Johnston, today.

The petition of the state's attorney tells a story of treatment almost incredibly inhuman, in which the child was exhibited by a carnival company through Minnesota and Iowa.

When the child was eighteen months old his father placed him in an orphanage in Omaha. Later the Johnstons secured possession of him, although the records do not show that the child was legally adopted by them.

While the boy was being exhibited in Spring Valley, Minnesota, the Minnesota labor commissioner was induced to bring an action against the Johnstons, but they fled from the state.

The mother of the boy, who is now Mrs. Henry N. Weakley, of Omaha, learned of the matter and she started proceedings to take him from the Johnstons.

VAN CLEAVE WINS IN SCHOOL CASE

Republican Head of Institute for the Blind Is Retained.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—The effort made by G. C. Fisher of Coshocton, trustee of the state school for the blind, to oust Edward M. Van Cleve, Republican superintendent of the institution, failed when the board of trustees, voting 4 to 3, declared for Van Cleve's retention. The effort to remove the superintendent was actuated by political motives alone, Mr. Fisher admitted.

Van Cleve will remain in office until the central board of control, which will administer the affairs of 17 state institutions, takes charge Aug. 15, and the trustees regard it as probable that he will be retained by the central board, inasmuch as there is a rule governing the action of that body by which politics shall play no part in the selection of a head of any state institution.

The board of trustees of the state school for the blind consists of three Democrats and two Republicans. They are C. N. Gaumer, Mansfield; F. H. Thornhill, Richwood, and J. C. Fisher of Coshocton, and Dr. Pricer, Ironton, and G. W. Hayes, Cincinnati. The last two are Republicans.

MISTAKEN HEIR WANTS HIS TAXES RETURNED

A Man Shouldn't Jump at Conclusions Says Hogan.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—A man in Harrison county three years ago heard that he had fallen heir to $1,000 in cash; and each year since he has been paying taxes on that amount, being an honest man.

The other day, however, the will was broken and another heir was given the $1,000. Now, the first heir is trying to have the commissioners of Harrison county refund him the taxes he paid, but Attorney General Hogan, who was asked by the prosecuting attorney of Harrison county to furnish a legal opinion on the subject, says that county commissioners have no power to refund taxes wrongfully paid.

"A man shouldn't jump at conclusions in regard to legacies," says Hogan. "It's a good idea to wait until you've got the cash or property before paying taxes on it."

PRESIDENT TAFT TALKS OF PEACE

Wants Senate To Ratify Peace Treaties.

TAFT PRAISES MR. ROOSEVELT

In Referring to Intervention in Cuba.

Treaties Between United States, France and England Provide That Every Question of a Justiceable Nature Should Be Submitted to a Tribunal of Arbitration, Says the President.

Mountain Lake Park, Md., Aug. 8.—An earnest appeal was made here yesterday by the president to the people of the United States to exert their moral influence to have the senate ratify the British and French arbitration treaties and also those with Nicaragua and Honduras.

The appeal was made direct to the Mountain Lake Park Chautauqua of the Methodist Episcopal church, but in it the president included the rest of the nation.

President Taft traveled 400 miles through Maryland and West Virginia by special train for this purpose.

"I observe," said the president, "that there is some suggestion that by ratifying this treaty the senate may in some way abdicate its function of treaty-making. I confess myself unable to perceive the treaty in any such a point.

"To have these treaties not ratified by the senate of the United States or to have any hesitation and discussion of a serious character in respect to them, would halt the movement toward general peace which has made substantial advance in the last ten years. To secure the ratification of the treaties, therefore, appeal must be made to the moral sense of the nation.

"While that is not entirely in keeping of the churches, certainly they may exert a powerful influence in the promotion of any effective instrumentality to secure permanent peace."

Asks for Support.

Leaving the arbitration treaties behind, the president asked for that same sort of popular support of the treaties with Honduras and Nicaragua.

"There is no issue before the senate so acute in respect to the cause of peace as the confirmation of these Central American treaties," said the President. "While I admit the greater importance of universal treaties of arbitration in the long run, and as affecting the world at large, yet in respect of American interests as to peace in this hemisphere, they are not equal in importance to the confirmation of these Central American treaties."

In making his plea for the Central American conventions the president highly praised former President Roosevelt. He spoke of the tendency of the United States to extend their helping hand to less powerful people and instanced Mr. Roosevelt's intervention in Cuba. That tendency was evidenced also, he said, "by the wonderfully successful intervention by Theodore Roosevelt as president of the United States in securing peace between Russia and Japan."

Poor Suffer Most.

The president left Washington at 8 o'clock with a load of Baltimore & Ohio officials along to help run the special. He spent just an hour in Mountain Lake Park, leaving for Washington at 4 o'clock. His address was made to several thousand people. The president said in part:

"I have been surprised to note with what fervor the plain people of every nation welcome the proposal of universal arbitration not because their real interest in the practical adoption of the plan is not greater than all other classes in the community, but because it is a somewhat abstruse case, in the success of which they might not be expected to take an immediate interest.

"Of course, in a war it is the common, plain people that have to bear most of the suffering. They have to pay most of the taxes, they have to do most of the fighting, and they secure the least benefit and least glory."

The treaties, the president proceeded to say, "provided that every question of a justiciable nature should be submitted to a tribunal of arbitration that they define what justiciable means."

ECHO OF NEWARK LYNCHING HEARD

Wife of Murdered Policeman To Mary Florida Man.

Newark, O., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Ersha Howard, widow of former Policeman William Howard, whose killing was one of the causes of the Etherington lynching, will leave Newark today with Andrew Ahik, for Winter Park, near Orlando, Florida, and they will be married at Orlando, Saturday.

The marriage will come as a renewal of the loves of school children in Hungary. When both attended the village school at Bosliard, Hungary, they were sweethearts.

Ahik is an orange grower at Winter Park, and is reported to be worth $500,000.

DOESN'T WANT CLOTHESHORSE

When Green Weds He'll Marry a Woman.

DECLARE NEW YORK WOMEN PARASITES

Who Do Not Know Meaning of Marriage.

Hetty Green's Son, Edward, Says the Gotham Women Wed To Get Divorced in Order To Win a New Husband or Live on the Alimony of the First—Green Will Go to Texas for a Wife.

New York, Aug. 8.—"When I get married I'll marry a woman and not a clotheshorse. She'll be from the West. I'm going to Texas right now.

"New York women do not know the real meaning of marriage. They marry for a home to live out of; they marry a man to be away from him; they marry, in fact, to get divorced in order to get a new husband or live on the alimony of the first.

"Children are the last thing they want. They are the very last word of the useless."

Colonel Edward H. R. Green, who promised his mother, Mrs. Hetty Green, that he would not marry until he was twenty years over age, has kept his word and is now qualified for matrimony.

Also, he is willing if the right lady can be found. But; it would appear, he is not pleased with the women he has seen in New York. The New York woman leads the country in a hunt for nose rings and bobble skirts instead of house, he declares.

"If they can have beautiful clothes and look fashionable," Colonel Green said; "if they can ride in automobiles or own yachts, a cottage at Newport or a villa at Bar Harbor, they are snug in their domestic accomplishments.

Holy Horrors!

"None of them know how to cook or sew. And, holy horrors! they would deny that their good, old, homely grandmothers knew how to wash clothes. Some of their grandmothers did wash clothes, too.

"These New York women are the last word in the useless; they are parasites for fair. All they want are clothes—and then more clothes. New York is fashion mad, and pity it is that women from other states follow like sheep.

"Why; let a good domesticated little woman from my state—from Texas—come here and in a few weeks she'll be a fine veneer of the New York woman. If a fashionable New York woman went up Fifth avenue with a ring in her nose the jewelers couldn't finish nose rings fast enough to supply the demand. The hobble skirt got down to the Mexican border in my state six weeks after the first one arrived in New York."

"Women should marry with the idea of having children and caring for a home. How many of these women here do it? Most married women here among the wealthy classes don't know any more about why paregoric is given nor when the youngster is expected to cut its first teeth than they know about an ichthyosaurus.

Can't Even Cook.

"They leave that to $1,000 doctors and to $100-nurses, and as for their own tables—well—all I have to say is that if more women knew how to cook chicken and make pies there would be less divorce and fewer high-priced restaurants.

"We are always talking about the cost of living. It's because women insist upon being decked with jewels and fine clothes for the simple purpose of parading before other men. They want to peacock it about in fashionable restaurants and at the theaters for the purpose of being seen by men who aren't their husbands.

"The Western women who live in smaller communities are a different type and have different standards. Environment has everything to do with this chameleon thing called women."

GAS COMPANIES SEEK REDUCTIONS

Corporations Claim Tax Valuations Are Too High.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—The many gas companies managed by Edward W. Hanley, of Dayton, recent candidate for the United States senate, will join with other similar concerns throughout the state in an effort to secure a reduction in their tax valuations from the state tax commission.

Hanley appeared before the commission today and asked permission to join with the other gas men of the state in a public hearing which will be held before the commission August 16. Permission was granted.

In valuing gas properties, the commission has gone on the theory that if a company makes, say $1,000 net profit in a year, that its system is worth, for taxation, about $15,000. Such a method would force practically all the gas companies to pay many times more taxes this year than in former years. The magnates arguing that their sources of supply are very uncertain and become exhausted within a comparatively few years, are arguing that they should be permitted to make anywhere from fifteen to twenty per cent. profit each year, instead of being held down to a six per cent. basis by the tax commission.

In Justice's Court.

A case of John Carlin against the Marion County Agricultural society was heard in the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf Tuesday Carlin alleges he was pasturing a colt on the property of the company and in an open ditch it was injured to the extent of $125. On the motion of the plaintiff, the case was dismissed at the plaintiff's cost. It developed that the colt was on property not leased at the time the colt was injured.

Begin Duties.

George B. Knapp and Martin J Burke were sworn in Tuesday as members of the board of elections, and filed their papers with the clerk of courts.

COLONEL GREEN TO MARRY.

EDWARD H. GREEN.

Colonel Edward H. R. Green, president of the Westminster Company, with assets of $125,000,000, owner of the Texas Midland Railroad and son of Mrs. Hetty Green, is going to marry within a year. Who the bride-to-be is he doesn't know, but he says that his bachelorhood will end before he is a year older.

He believes the problem of marriage is far more serious for the wealthy man than for the poor man. Colonel Green objects to divorce, and when he ceases to be a bachelor he wants to have the satisfaction of knowing that he is the loved head of the household and not the treasury vault.

SAYS PRINCIPLE IS DESTRUCTIVE

Senator Borah Attacks Recall System.

MAKES A VIGOROUS SPEECH IN SENATE

Says Man of Small Fortune Will Suffer.

The Most Paltry Being Who Slimes His Way Through Machinery of Government Is Judge Who Seeks To Locate Popular Side of Judicial Controversy, Declares Idaho Senator in Speech.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Asserting the principle to be utterly destructive of a repumlican form of government, Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, today opposed the recall of the judiciary in a vigorous speech to the senate.

"I maintain that in writing a law," Borah said, "we ought to listen closely to the instructions of a well-founded and well-sustained public opinion. But after the law is written, the judge who construes it and by its terms measuers out to each citizen his duty or his obligations, should consider nothing but the terms as written.

"He has nothing to do with its leniency or its hardness, its wisdom or unwisdom.

"The most paltry being who slimes his way through the machinery of the government is the judge who seeks to locate the popular side of a judicial controversy. The man of small fortune or limited means will always suffer in a contest with influence or wealth in such a court. Instead of a trial, if he has a just cause, he will get that delay which in the end constitutes a denial of justice.

"I am afraid that the principle of the recall as applied to judges will tend to establish the rule of the majority in matters of judicial controversy.

"If the time ever comes when the fundamental principles of our government, as embodied in our constitution, no longer hold the respect and fealty of a majority of our people, popular government will as a practical fact, not long survive that hour."

MORE DEATHS FROM DREADED PELLAGRA

Kentucky Authorities Hasten To Act in Matter.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 8.—Announcement was made today from the Eastern Kentucky asylum that another death from pellagra has occurred there, making three since the disease made its appearance at the institution, and that the number of cases have increased from seventeen to twnty-five, with a number of suspects.

Dr. R. L. Willis, superintendent, will leave tonight for Corbin, Kentucky, where tomorrow a statewide conference to devise ways and means to eradicate the disease has been called by the state board of health.

Experts from the government health department at Washington and physicians from all over the country are expected to be present at the conference.

One hundred cases of pellagra exist in Whitley county, in which Corbin is located, and there are as many other cases in the adjoining mountain counties.

At this conference, pellagra patients will be examined as to their food, personal habits and methods of living.

JOHN W. GATES DIES IN PARIS

The Financier Passes Away in Arms of Wife.

GATES MAKES A GAME FIGHT AGAINST DEATH

Plunger Longed To See America Once More.

For Weeks, Gates Literally Hovered Between Life and Death, Breathing the Wish That He Might "Be Home" Again—Physicians Express Amazement at His Vitality—The Career of the Financier.

Paris, Aug 9.—Kept alive for weeks by the ardent wish to see America once more, "Bet-You-a-Million" John W Gates, the American financier, died early today in the arms of his wife and son, after one of the gamest fights against death that his physicians say they ever witnessed

Not long before he died, he breathed the wish that he might have been at home" He was conscious almost to the last moment and knew that the end was at hand, but faced it with the courage that had characterized his life.

Despite an iron constitution and the determination and will of his powerful mind, to live, aided by all that medical science could do, it became apparent last night when Gates had a serious relapse, that his struggle for six weeks had been in vain and that death was but a matter of hours

Besides Mrs Gates and their son, Charles G Gates, the only persons present at the financier's bedside were Dr Edward Gros, an American physician living in Paris, and D. R. Revee, an intimate friend of the Gates family from New York.

Amazes Doctors.

For four weeks, Gates literally hovered between life and death. Again and again it was believed that he could last but a few hours, but each time he rallied in a way that amazed his physicians and family and gave rise to hopes that he would win out.

Gates' physicians expressed their amazement, today, at what they declared to be the "gamest fight" ever made by any patient in their long practice. One of Gate's friends explained that the secret of his tenacious struggle to live was due largely to a heartfelt wish and hope expressed repeatedly to "see home once more" Gates came to Paris in June to be treated for an operation of the throat. An operation was performed and he was reported out of danger, in fact, was sufficiently well to be taken out one day for an airing

The following day he took to his bed again. Serious complications of kidney trouble developed and soon his heart began to weaken.

Gates' body will be taken to New York for burial, leaving here on the steamer, Wilhelm Der Grosse, August 16 Services will be held in an American church in Paris, Saturday.

Both Mrs Gates and Charlie were in a state of complete collapse from grief today and arrangements for the disposition of the body were made by Harry S Black, of New York, one of the dead millionaire's close friends.

Friends of the Gates family say that his fortune is about $40,000,000 and it is understood that the bulk of this will go to his son, Charles, although the widow is liberally provided for.

Career of Financier.

New York, Aug. 9.—The death in Paris at an early hour this morning of "Bet-You-a-Million" John W. Gates, perhaps the best self-advertised multi-millionaire in America, brings to an end a financial and personal career that has probably never been equalled.

Worth probably $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 at the time of his death, John W Gates, "the forgetful man" who stood not in awe of Morgan or Rockefeller or, in fact, the whole combined "Street," wanted the world to know he had money. He wasn't ashamed of it. Once he had his private secretary write to the New York Herald.

"Let it appear in your financial page that during the late rise in railroad stocks, J. W. Gates has made between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, principally in Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific both great favorites of his."

Gates was born in Turner's Junction, Illinois or what is now a part of South Chicago, May 8, 1855 He was as poor as poverty. But, if South-Side tradition be true, Gates was an early financier. He farmed on shares' and usually bought out his partners He was a most excellent "hoss swapper" When he was eighteen he was married to a farmer's daughter

After running a small hardware and grain business in Turner's Junction, Gates became a drummer, and, he admitted himself, he was a 'peach.' He traveled for Isaac L. Elwood, founder of the barbed wire industry, and introduced barbed wire in Texas, proving a wonderful adept at the art of talking a man into buying Later he exemplified this in selling out to the United States steel corporation at a price far beyond the value of his works.

I hadn't traveled long before I found more money could be made manufacturing wire than selling it at $100 a month," he said. With seven others he invested $2,500 in a wire manufacturing company and cleaned up fifty per cent. profit a week. Elwood, owner of the patents, objected. When they served Gates with legal papers in St. Louis he moved his little plant by ferry into Illinois and made more wire. By the time legal papers reached him there he moved back to Missouri. In the end he beat Elwood and the owner, of the patents had to make Gates his partner.

More Profit.

By 1892 Gates had consolidated all his holdings into the Consolidated Steel & Wire company, with $4,000,000 capital. In 1895 he put $700,000 into the Illinois Steel company, and was elected president. In 1898 the Illinois Steel went into the Federal Steel company, and under the kindly guidance of Roswell P. Flower, Gates and Elwood sold out at a large profit.

That year a wire war started in Pittsburg. Gates and Elwood rushed there and bought a steel wire mill for $1,000,000. Just forty three seconds later they bought another for $900,000. Gates jumped a fast train and rushed to Cleveland, where he took over the Cleveland rolling mills, "as a base of operations," for $5,000,000. Gates and Elwood were "buying mad." Gates went to Massachusetts and bought. Elwood went to Cincinnati and bought. In the week between Christmas and New Year they bought $12,000,000 worth of wire mills.

One week later the American Steel & Wire Company of New Jersey, capital $90,000,000, was launched.

Then Gates went into the market. From 1897 to 1901 was his prime. His profits have been swollen by rumor. Gates was a "grandstand" performer; a "self-advertiser" of the deepest dye But nevertheless, Gates had to rent a good many safe deposit vaults to hold his securities. In 1898, after a plan between Judge E. H. Gary, Garritt H. Ten Broek and Gates to combine steel and wire mills into a great trust, had failed, Gates and Gary organized the Consolidated Steel & Wire Company of Illinois, Gates taking one-fourth of the capital stock of $4,000,000 This he later sold out to the American Steel & Wire company, receiving $3,500,000 for his original investment of $1,000,000. Gates himself underwrote $20,000,000 of the stock of the American, admitting that he received a large profit for the underwriting, but forgetting how much it was.

Forgetful Gates.

Gates was really forgetful, so he said. Once he carried a check for $1,250,000 around in his pocket until requested to cash it so books might be balanced. In 1902, after astonishing Europe, Gates came back to New York with barbaric pearls and gold. On his clothes, the spoils of London, he paid $1,500 duty; one a dog collar of pearls and diamonds $6,000. He was going away rejoicing when a collector asked about a $35,000 pearl necklace. "That's true," said Gates, "I forgot to declare the darned thing." His forgetfulness cost him $21,000.

Of the $90,000,000 stock of the American Steel & Wire company, $2,000,000 disappeared and Gates had "forgotten" where it went. He never remembered

Gates would go to any extreme to aid his side of the market. In 1900 Gates was "short" in the market. He shut down twelve of his steel mills, throwing thousands of men out of employment and causing a panic. Stocks tumbled and Gates cleaned up.

Gates' operation in Louisville & Nashville was spectacular. The road was under the conservative management of August Belmont. Gates formed a syndicate to get control. Belmont awakened to the fact too late. Within six weeks Gates and his associates had 206,000 shares and controlled 100,000 others Morgan, objecting to gentlemen "buying railroads over night," had to "save the situation" It is estimated the profits of the Gates pool were $5,000,000.

Thoroughbred Sport.

Of late Gates and his son, Charley, have been investing heavily in Texas oil fields and bucking the Standard Oil. Gates was one of the heaviest stockholders in the Republic Steel & Iron company, which has remained aloof from the steel trust and fought it consistently.

Gates was a thoroughbred sport. He loved horses and horse racing and his bets were always in the thousands. He played poker for immense stakes and was reputed to have lost $25,000 once on a trip from New York to Chicago.

Gates was an art collector, said to have been the possessor of the finest private collection in the world.

Gates once "went in" for military show and for a time was colonel of Illinois militia. His home was in New York, Chicago and Texas.

Mrs. Gates was Miss Delloia R. Baker, of St Charles, Illinois He is survived by one son, Charles Gilbert Gates, of whom one of the Pulitzer school of journalists once wrote

"The younger Gates was a brilliant and joyous sight. Three diamonds blazed in each suspender buckle Three more diamonds shone in his negligee shirt front. His cuff buttons glittered with costly baubles. The glamor of his presence overpowered everybody in the office except his father"

Young Gates, whose wife recently secured a divorce, will, it is said, inherit the larger portion of his father's vast estate.

Some of Gates' Dont's.

New York, Aug. 9.—John W. Gates, who died, today, in Paris, astounded the seventh annual conference of the gulf division of the Methodist church, at Port Arthur, Texas, in 1909, with the following "Don'ts."

Don't gamble.
Don't play cards
Don't bet on horse races.
Don't speculate in wheat.
Don't speculate on the stock exchange.
Don't throw dice.
Don't shirk honest labor.
Don't be a gambler, once a gambler, always one.

The ministers agreed these "don'ts" were all right, coming as they did from a man whose heavy betting on horse races aroused the Jockey Club of New York to warn him to modify his wagers; whose spectacular gambling at "draw poker" and bridge are famed in song and poetry; who matched pennies for $1,000 a throw, who cornered corn and bucked Standard Oil and United States Steel "off the boards" in the stock exchange.

Gibraltar, Aug. 9.—Cut almost in twain, five miles east of Tarifa in the straits of Gibraltar, the French mail steamer, Emir, today sank within five minutes, carrying down with her ninety-three passengers and members of the crew News of the accident was brought here by the British steamer, Silverton, which crashed into the Emir during a dense fog. The Silverton lowered all of her boats, but was only able to rescue twenty-three members of the Emir s complement.

The bows of the Silverton were stove in and it required the hardest kind of work at her pumps to keep her afloat until she reached the local harbor.

The Emir was bound for Moroccan ports and most of the passengers and crew were Spanish

ADVERSE REPORT ON COTTON BILL

Decision of Senate Committee on Finance.

LORIMER PROBE SUSPENDS TODAY

The Next Hearing Will Be in Chicago.

Because of the Provision in Arizona Constitution for Recall of the Judiciary, President Taft Will Veto the Bill as Soon as It Reaches the White House—Taft's View of the Recall.

Washington, Aug. 9.—An adverse report of the house Democratic cotton bill was decided upon by the senate committee on finance today. The measure will be formally submitted to the senate tomorrow, the day set in a resolution calling upon the committee for a report.

A motion was made by Senator Williams, Democrat, of Mississippi, to report the bill favorably, was defeated, nine to five, along party lines A motion by Smoot, Republican, of Utah, to report the bill adversely, was carried without a division.

Probe Suspended.

Washington, Aug. 9—Farther investigation of the election of Lorimer to the senate was suspended by the Dillingham committee, today, until early October, when hearings will be resumed in Chicago.

The recess was taken shortly before noon when the examination of Ex-Senator D. W. Holstaw, one of the confessed bribe-takers, was concluded.

It is the plan of the committee to examine at the Chicago meetings many of the Democratic representatives who supported Lorimer and then return again to Washington.

Will Veto Bill.

Washington, Aug 9—Because of the provision in the Arizona constitution for the recall of the judiciary, President Taft will veto the bill admitting that territory and New Mexico to statehood as soon as the measure reaches the White House. This was definitely learned today on the best authority.

In sending the veto President Taft will write a statement declaring his unalterable opposition to the recall of the judiciary.

As to Wool Bill.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Early agreement on a compromise wool bill and adjournment of congress by the end of next week, was the prediction of several Democratic leaders today. Majority Leader Underwood, Democrat, of Alabama, who, with Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, is trying to agree on a wool and free list bill, was optimistic.

WILL ALLOW HUBBY TO WED ANOTHER

New York Woman Tells of Blasted Hopes.

After Twenty-Two Years of Married Life, Unmarred by Single Quarrel, and with Boys Grown to Manhood, Copper Magnate's Wife Will Surrender Father of Boys to a Younger Woman.

New York, Aug 9—After twenty-two years of married life, unmarred by a single quarrel, and with her boys grown to manhood, Mrs. Oscar A. Turner, wife of the noted copper mining magnate and millionaire, announced today that she will surrender her husband to a "soul mate." Her lawyer, she says, is now negotiating a financial settlement, as soon as arrangements can be made, she explained that she will go to a western state, establish a residence and secure a divorce In her apartments in the Waldorf Astoria, Mrs. Turner today told of the wreck of her matrimonial hopes and expectations.

"Mr Turner has been a considerate and dutiful husband," she said, "throughout our married life. There was never any friction until early this year when he came to me and confessed that he had found a 'soul mate,' and could no longer live with me. She is the daughter of a prominent New York politician and my husband is openly received at her home.

Prays in Vain.

"For months I prayed for a reconciliation, but soon saw that this was out of the question. I will say nothing that might harm my husband in his business He is the father of my two boys and although I am still dazed with my experience, I wish him well.

"It was not until I returned from Europe last October and was injured in an automobile accident in San Francisco that I learned of my husband's entanglement. Then he told me all and there was nothing to do but get a divorce."

Turner is the head of the Ely Copper company and is worth several millions. Mrs. Turner married him when she was sixteen and she aided him in getting his start, walking miles with him through the mountains when he was prospecting. Last year, Mrs. Turner was robbed of a $25,000 necklace while returning from Europe on the steamer, Deutchland.

SENATOR WILLIAM FRYE PASSES AWAY

Maine Will Now Have Two Democratic Senators.

Portland, Me., Aug. 9.—United States Senator William Pierce Frye died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Helen White, in Lewiston. There were at his bedside at the time of his death Mrs. White and his other daughter, Mrs. Alice Briggs of Washington.

Senator Frye has been ill for a long time and he has been at his home in Lewiston all summer. His illness took a serious turn about a week ago, although he rallied somewhat, and it was only a few minutes before his death that it was realized that the end was near.

Senator Frye's death means that Maine will be represented by two Democrats in the United States senate, as it will devolve upon the present Democratic governor, Plaisted, to name his successor to fill the vacancy until the legislature meets one year from next winter, when his term would have expired.

There will be probably three active candidates for the honor, William M. Pennell, who was a candidate against the present Senator Johnson, E B. Winslow, a member of the executive council, and James C. Hemlen, a merchant and former candidate for congress All reside in Portland

Topeka, Kan., Aug 9.—All Kansas railroads agreed today to haul seed wheat free to fourteen northwest Kansas counties that grew no wheat this year. SENATORS VOTE ON TERRITORIES

Arizona and New Mexico To Be Admitted.

ARIZONA WILL RETAIN RECALL

Cummins and Owens Fight for Retention.

Statehood Resolution Passes After Senate Had Been in Session Eight and One-Half Hours—Speches Are Made for and Against the Resolution—The Nelson Amendment Is Defeated.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Senators indulged their taste for oratory and then passed the Loud resolution providing for the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as states of the Union, the recall of judges being included in the Arizona constitution.

Senator O'Gorman of New York condemned the recall as the most "pernicious doctrine" put forth in years, one calculated to undermine the judiciary and degrade popular government.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma made brief reply. He is in favor of recall of federal judges, including the supreme court justices. Senator Cummins defended the Arizona constitution. Senators Bailey, Shively and Newlands closed the debate, which has been extended over two days, on the statehood resolution.

The statehood resolution was passed after the senate had been in session eight and one-half hours. The first vote came on the Nelson amendment to knock out of the Arizona constitution the recall of judges. The Nelson amendment was defeated—46 to 23. The statehood resolution containing the recall in the Arizona constitution was then passed by a vote of 53 to 18

Senator Pomerene voted against the Nelson amendment

The debate was interrupted by the visit of Admiral Togo of the imperial Japanese navy. On motion of Senator Root the senate took 15 minutes recess, and senators filed past the visitor and shook hands with him, Vice President Sherman making the introductions On leaving, Togo was applauded on the floor and in the senate galleries, which were crowded with visitors at the time.

PERKINS NEED NOT EXPLAIN

Shadow of Jail Bars Lifted by Underwood.

THE CHAIRMAN REVERSES RULING

Financier Won't Have To Tell of Contributions.

Argument Over Perkins Imbroglio Is Long and Heated, but Underwood Gives in When He Finds He Can't Get Support of Full Democratic Side of the Committee. The Arguments.

Washington, Aug 9—The shadow of jail bars was lifted from George Perkins, former lieutenant of J. P. Morgan, this afternoon, when Representative Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, chairman of the investigating committee on the steel trust, reversed his ruling of yesterday and decided that he would not attempt to force Perkins to answer the committee's questions regarding his personal contributions to political campaign funds.

For his refusal Perkins was threatened until this afternoon with arrest by the house officers and with a jail sentence for contempt of congress. With Chairman Stanley's reversal of his previous ruling, it was decided that the matter would be dropped and Perkins put on the witness stand for further examination late this afternoon.

Stanley withdrew his ruling because it became apparent that he would be unable to secure the support of the full Democratic side of the committee Representative Littleton, Democrat, New York, argued that the resolution under which the committee operates did not give it the power to demand such personal information.

Heated Argument.

The argument over the Perkins imbroglio was long and heated. Chairman Stanley and the Democrats were insistent that he answer the questions put to him regarding campaign contributions, and Attorney Lindabury and the Republican committeemen were just as strenuously opposed to forcing him to a reply.

Representative Young, Republican, of Michigan, ranking minority member of the committee, who led the fight for Perkins in the executive session, declared that he was convinced that Chairman Stanley would change his ruling.

During the executive session argument between Lindabury and Stanley became so heated that their voice reverberated through the corridors.

MANDAMUS SUIT AGAINST OFFICERS

Hogan After Franklin County Teachers' Institute.

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—Attorney General Hogan is preparing papers in a mandamus suit he will bring against the officers of the Franklin County Teachers' institute, in the event they refuse enrollment certificates to those teachers who decline to pay one dollar enrollment fee, arbitrarily fixed by the officers and executive committee.

Hogan, Moonday, held that it is illegal to charge teachers an enrollment fee and that the president and secretary of the institute are required, under the law, to issue free of charge to all teachers who attend the institute, certificates that will enable them to collect their regular salaries as teachers for the days they attend.

Notwithstanding this opinion, the officers of the Franklin county institute propose, it is said, to collect a one-dollar fee from each teacher before issuing the certificate that will enable them to draw their pay.

PRISONER SOOTHES OTHERS BY MUSIC

Plays Flute While Newark Jail Is Burning.

Newark, O., Aug. 9.—More plaintive music and to a better end than that played by the "Pied Piper of Hamelin," calmed the twenty prisoners in the county jail here early this morning, when a fire broke out and filled the cells and corridors with smoke.

"Dink" Leonard, a prisoner on the upper tier, grabbed his flute and the soothing sound emitted therefrom quieted the inmates and order was quickly restored. The fire was caused by a prisoner dropping a lighted match into a pile of papers. The loss was small

TWO PROMOTERS COME TO GRIEF

Bottled Sunshine Is Turned to Gloom.

FEDERAL SLEUTHS GATHER EVIDENCE

Prisoners Said To Have Cleaned Up $1,000,000.

Sun Electrical Generating Company, a Texas Corporation with Capital of $5,000,000, Is Alleged To Be Gigantic Swindle—How the Proposition Is Presented to Stock Buyers of the Country.

New York, Aug. 9.—Bottled sunshine turned to gloom, this afternoon, when two officers of the Sun Electrical Generating company, a Texas corporation capitalized at $5,000,000, were haled before United States Commissioner John A. Shields, charged with using the mails to defraud. It is alleged that the promoters of the company have cleaned up nearly $1,000,000 by selling stock in their plan to generate energy from the sun's rays The government sleuths say the so-called sun-ray catching machines were operated by nothing more wonderful than electricity

The prisoners taken were George H. Cove, president, and George H. Burlingame, stock-selling agent of the alleged swindling concern. Both are prosperous looking and promptly furnished $2,500 and $5,000 bail for a hearing in October.

Mixed Up with Many.

Among the concerns the stock of which Burlingame is said to have marketed are Pittsburg Coal Dredging company, Cleveland Coal Dredging company; Radio Telephone company, North American Wireless company; Raw Milk Products company; Universal Roller Bearing company, Bennett Pump company, Rocky Mountain Tunnel company.

The main plant of the Sun Electrical Generating company was in Baltimore. There were also "demonstrating plants" in Philadelphia, New Orleans and Austin, Texas, and most of the victims of the concern are residents of those cities. The specific complaint against Cove and Burlingame is fraud made by A. B. Teasley, of Concordia, Kansas.

The postoffice inspectors called attention to the fact that Burlingame bears a striking resemblance to the pictures of George Randolph Chester's hero of financial buccaneering, "J. Rufus Wallingford."

WINTER WHEAT REPORT ISSUED

Report Covering Oats, Rye and Corn Given Out.

Washington, Aug. 9.—A report of the department of agriculture, issued today, estimates a winter wheat yield of about 14.5 bushels per acre, or a total of 455,149,000 bushels, as compared with 464,000,000 finally estimated last year, and 450,130,000 the annual average production in the past five years. Quality is estimated at 92 0, as against 92.6 last year.

The amount of oats on farms, August 1, is estimated at 5.7 per cent. of last year's crop, or about 64,342,000 bushels, as compared with 63,249,000 bushels on August 1, 1910, and 52,663,000, the average on farms August 1 for the past five years.

The preliminary estimate of the production of rye is 30,677,000 bushels, as compared with 33,039,000 last year, and 32,414,000, the annual production in the past five years. Quality is 91.5 against 92.7 last year.

For corn, the report estimates the condition, August 1, at 69.6, as against 79 3, August 1, 1910, and 81.2, the ten-year average of that date; with an estimated yield of 22.6 bushels, as indicated by the condition report, against 27.4 for 1910 final estimates, and 27.1, average from 1906 to 1910.

On tobacco, the report estimates the condition, August 1, at 68.0, as against 78.5 on the same date in 1910, and 82.2, the ten-year average.

ORDERS WOMAN TO WORK IN STREETS

Kansas Judge Would Make an Example of Her.

Iola, Kas., Aug 9.—The sight of a woman, garbed in bloomers, linked between men prisoners in the city chain gang, is not for Iola. Judge Smeltzer's plan to make a "horrible example" of Mrs. Ella Reese, on whom he imposed a chain gang sentence, was blocked today, when city officials refused to obey the court's order.

Judge Smeltzer said the sentence was to be a warning to other women who may attack society by vicious practices The court refused to consider offers from men who wish to join the chain gang on the streets to save Mrs. Reese. He ordered that the woman be provided with bloomers.

Mayor Bollinger and the city commissioners refused to authorize the purchase of bloomers and Street Commissioner Glynn announced that no woman would be allowed to work on the streets.

Examination of the books show the judge has the law on his side, but the fight to alter the woman's sentence is being waged by officials and popular sentiment.
